HINES CONTINUES DENIAL OF STORY TOLD BY FUNK

Produces Hotel Bills to Show He Was Not in Chicago at Time of Conversation Told of by Harvester Company's Manager.

MAY HAVE BEEN WIFE'S THOUGH, HE ADMITS

Contradicts Statement Made by Herman H. Hettner to Helm Committee and Declares "Mistake" Must Have Been Made Deliberately.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Edward Hines of Chicago, before the Senate Investigating Committee today contradicted sworn testimony by President Herman H. Hettler of the Hettler Lumber Co. of Chicago, that Hines had boasted to him of having personally elected Lorimer.

He denied that the lumber interests raised a big sum to lobby for tariff legislation in 1909, or that the lumber interests had anything to do with the Lorimer election.

Hines declared that he was "absolutely certain" he was not mistaken about his testimony that former Senator Aldrich stated to him the President was anxious to have Lorimer elected.

Asked about a denial of this from the White House after his testimony at Springfield, Hines merely said that such a denial had never been "called to his attention."

Hines' pockets bulged with documents as he ascended the stand.

Hines' counsel sought to show by these papers that Hines was not in Chicago last February about the time Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Co., declares Hines called upon him to refresh his memory in regard to the famous Union League conversation, in which Funk testified Hines asked him to contribute $10,000 to reimburse a $100,000 Lorimer election fund.

Bills for services rendered him at a Washington hotel f r the month preceding March 4 were presented. The first bill was for five days, the bill amounting to $355.50.

"Better read the items," suggested Senator Kern. The largest item was $250 cash. Another bill was for more than $600.

Denies Being in Chicago.

"Wasn't it possible, as far as these bills were concerned, for you to have been absent from the city and for your wife to have remained alone at the hotel?" asked Senator Jones.

"Yes, sir. I went to Philadelphia once, but never to Chicago."

The witness produced a plat of the Chicago River over the treatment of which there is said to have been a controversy between the International Harvester Co. on one side and Lorimer, Hines and others on the other side.

Cross-examined by Attorney Marble for the committee, Hines said that at the exact moment Lorimer was elected he (Hines) was at the Union League Club at Chicago, telephoning the Associated Press there to ascertain the result of the balloting at Springfield. The witness could not definitely fix the hour, saying it was between 1:30 and 3 p. m. He related how he was told that the voting was on at Springfield, that Lorimer had 108 votes, and finally, after he held the wire a moment, came the news that Lorimer was elected.

Merely a Messenger.

Attorney Marble asked if the witness did not feel very happy over the result. Hines said he was not so certain about it.

"Didn't you consider the election was the result of your efforts?"

"No, I considered that I was a mere message bearer and I never did know what the effect of the message was."

Hines said that as he stepped out of the booth from the talk with the Associated Press he met Herman H. Hettler, Chicago, a competing lumberman. The witness denied the testimony by Hettler at the Helm hearing at Springfield that he told Hettler he had just been talking to the new Senator, Lorimer, and that he said, "I elected him, I myself personally."

Hines testified that he merely told Hettler he had been talking to the Associated Press and understood Mr. Lorimer had been elected Senator.

Denies Hettler's Story.

Hines said he and Hettler had never been friends. He explained that his brother got the trade of the Pennsylvania road Co. away from the Hettler firm.

"I did not use any language which could have been honestly interpreted as insulting to him; I did it myself personally.

"On the contrary, it is not an insult. Practically all that was said was that Lorimer had been elected and I was very happy over it."

DROUTH KILLS FISH

Thousands of dead fish of all varieties and sizes are lying on the stagnant water of the Marias Croche Lake, St. Charles County. The fish are dying on account of the low stage of water in the lake.

Marias Croche Lake is a high-water lake. In the great high water of 1903 it was filled. Prior to that time it had been drained and its bed formed rich farming land.

POSTMASTER IS ARRESTED ON A PRIEST'S CHARGE

Official at Pacific, Mo., Accused of Tampering With Father Glinger's Mail.

TROUBLE IN THE CHURCH

Prisoner Is Said to Be Leader of Faction Opposing the Pastor.

Sebastian Netscher, postmaster at Pacific, Mo., 34 miles southwest of St. Louis, was arrested Friday by Deputy United States Marshal John Williams, and was brought to St. Louis at 11:30 a. m.

The Postmaster is charged with tampering with the mail of the Rev. John A. Glinger, pastor of the Catholic Church at Pacific. There has been some dissensions in the church for years past and Netscher was the leader of the faction opposed to Father Glinger and which preferred charges against him with Archbishop Glennon.

A telegram to the Post-Dispatch from Pacific says that the trouble between the priest and the postmaster began a number of years ago when the postmaster had Father Glinger fined $10 on a technical charge, for sending written matter through the mails in a package that should have contained only printed matter.

Father Glinger complained to the postal authorities that his mail frequently was opened before it reached him. He said that most of the letters which had been tampered with were from Washington and he suspected the postmaster, against whom he had made charges with the department.

Detectives Set Trap.

Postoffice Inspectors Bunsen and Reuter of St. Louis were assigned to investigate. They got blank letters and envelopes from the offices of the Postmaster-General and the inspector in charge at Washington and folded the inclosed matter in such a way that it could be detected whether it had been tampered with before reaching Father Glinger. The inspectors say they sent the mail in such a way that the Postmaster himself would be certain to handle it.

The inspectors say they witnessed the opening of the decoy mail by the priest and were satisfied that it had been previously opened.

Father Glinger has been pastor of the Catholic Church at Pacific for 12 years. Netscher has been postmaster there for 14 years.

When taken to the marshal's office from the train, Netscher denied that he had opened the priest's mail. He said that his difficulties with the priest arose over the fact that he and a number of others in the parish sent their children to the public school in preference to Father Glinger's parochial school.

Netscher said that part of the congregation did not think the parochial school up to the standard and had started a movement to bring sisters from St. Louis to teach, but that Father Glinger opposed them. He says Father Glinger threatened that if sisters were sent to teach in his school he would build an 18-foot fence between him and the sisters.

Netscher was released under $1500 bond, to appear July 5, before Commissioner Atkins for a preliminary hearing. In the meantime he stands suspended as Postmaster at Pacific.

From the merchants to the people

The St. Louis merchants appreciate the pulling power of advertising in the POST-DISPATCH. They know the results are greater than in any three of its competitors combined, therefore, as a matter of common business judgment the St. Louis merchants buy more space in the POST-DISPATCH than in the biggest three of its nearest competitors all added together.

For instance, yesterday, Thursday, these merchants bought

88 Columns.

in the POST-DISPATCH alone, and only in the Globe-Democrat, Republic and Times all added together.

86 Columns

There is nothing unusual at all in these figures, the same thing in even a more exaggerated form occurs week after week, month after month and year after year. Our merchants are guided solely by actual experience which has proven that the results to them are greater from the POST-DISPATCH alone than its three next nearest competitors combined.

CONVICT DESERTS BRIDE, DISAPPEARS WITH HER JEWELS

Man Who Wooed and Won Girl While In Penitentiary Is Fugitive.

WED AFTER HIS RELEASE

Brief Honeymoon Followed by Flight With Band Leader's Cornet and Family Gems.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARTHAGE, Mo., June 30.—Harry Van Waringa, former convict, has deserted his bride, whom he married June 13, shortly after his release from the Missouri penitentiary, where he served a sentence for stealing a cornet.

Not only has he left his wife, but with him disappeared the costly cornet of the leader of the Carthage band and a considerably amount of jewelry.

Van Waringa's bride was Miss Ethel Faskin, formerly a stenographer in the office of the Secretary of State at Jefferson City. She was a weekly attendant at the prison services, where the convicts' orchestra led by Van Waringa played. Their mutual interest in music drew the two together.

Through the chaplain she sent Van Waringa a piece of music, and with the chaplain's permission he wrote her a formal note of thanks. More music and more notes followed, and finally the correspondence was allowed to go forward without being inspected.

Proposed in Letter.

In a letter the prisoner proposed, and the stenographer accepted him in another note.

Miss Faskin said to a Post-Dispatch reporter here shortly before her marriage that her parents had consented to her marriage to Van Waringa, with the full knowledge that he had been a convict.

He visited at the Faskin home here, coming direct from Jefferson City after his release.

Miss Faskin said:

"Theer are just as good men in the penitentiary as out of it. Some of the men are sent up for trivial things, and are not really bad. Harry Van Waringa is one of that kind. I have known him a long time, and am sure he is a good man. We will be very happy, for I love him. His convict record does not scare me a bit."

Van Waringa's former wife obtained a divorce from him in Amarillo, Tex., eighteen months ago.

Van Waringa is 28 years old, a native of Johannesburg, and a veteran of the Boer War. He had graduated from a music conservatory in Leipsic, and speaks German, French, Dutch and English.

HAVRE, June 30.—Daniel Alden Loring, the wealthy president of the Aetna Real Estate and Loan Co. of New York, landed here yesterday from the French liner La Loraine.

He was still much shaken as a result of his attempt to kill himself last Monday, La Loraine's second day out from New York. Two nephews, Baron Branca and George Rheims of Paris, met him on his arrival, having been summoned by wireless messages. They will place him in a sanitarium famous for its treatment of rheumatism, from which he had been suffering.

Daniel Alden Loring Jr. and his wife will join the elder Loring tomorrow. They are coming on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria due then at Cherbourg. All the way across the ocean by means of wireless the son pleaded with his father not to kill himself. They sailed from New York Saturday, after having learned that their father had left for France.

Capt. Maurras reported Loring's condition to his family immediately after he had been taken to the hospital. The word was then sent to the Auguste Victoria.

WIFE WHO IS FIGHTING TO PREVENT MARRIAGE ANNULMENT, HUSBAND, AND HER SISTER

ANNA HERBERT. ADOLPHUS PEPER. MRS. ADOLPHUS PEPER.

PEAS AND CUPID WOULDN'T NESTLE IN THE SAME POD

Wife Couldn't Eat Them, So Husband Demands That Court Free Him.

John Langendorf has a fondness for peas that is second only to his fondness for the music of the snare drum and the mandolin. When Langendorf, at the age of 19 years, married Miss Alvina Wagner, 18 years old, of 1636 Helen street, he felt assured that his wife's temperament was musically attuned to his, because he had heard her sing, and he just naturally presumed that she would like peas.

Mrs. Langendorf says that her husband cannot understand why any normal person would not like peas and that it was his intolerance in this respect that caused their first quarrel on the third night of their married life and led to their separation within three months. Langendorf filed his second suit for divorce Thursday.

"On the third evening after we were married, Mrs. Langendorf told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "I prepared peas for my husband's dinner at his urgent request. He looked up suddenly from the table and exclaimed:

"'Why, you're not eating any of the peas.'

"'No,' I told him, 'I don't care for peas.'

"'Oh, you've got to eat peas,' he said. 'Everybody likes peas. I want peas all the time and I wouldn't have a wife that wouldn't eat peas. Take some peas.'

"I told him that I never ate peas at home, and that I wasn't going to eat peas just to please him. He said I had to eat peas, and when I persisted that I wouldn't, he rolled the peas off his knife and threw it at me. But I didn't eat the peas and we quit living together after three months."

In this suit for divorce Langendorf alleges that he is a musician and that he must be out late at nights to play at concerts and entertainments but that his wife is unreasonably jealous and accuses him of being with other women.

Mrs. Langendorf denies she is jealous and also denies the allegation that her husband was a musician either at the time they were married or at any time before she separated from him.

"Since we have been separated," she said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "he has bought a drum and learned to play it and I have heard that he was employed for a time at Mannion's Park and other places.

"But while he was courting me and while we were living together he was a pipe machinist. His mother got him a mandolin with trading stamps and he used to bring it out to our house and have me sing. He would try to catch the air on the mandolin strings and keep me singing for tuning purposes.

"He has an artistic temperament, though. He told me he didn't think we ought to be tied down by being married and asked me to allow him to get a divorce. He said if I would do that he would call and see me at my home the same as before we were married, and that we would be sweethearts again. I told him I wouldn't do any such thing.

HE TELLS HOW HE WAS FORCED TO WED MRS. PEPER

First Husband of Woman Fighting Annulment of Her Second Marriage Says Pistol Was Used to Compel Him to Marry Her.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COVINGTON, Ky., June 30.—The testimony which detectives will give in the Peper marriage annulment suit in St. Louis concerning Mrs. Madeline Peper's first marriage, was outlined to a Post-Dispatch correspondent in an interview here today with John J. Gilliam, Mrs Peper's first husband.

Private detectives employed by Edwin W. Lee, Peper's guardian, have been in Covington investigating the marriage of Gilliam and Madeline Herbert in September, 1906, which ended in the divorce court in 1908. Gilliam told his story of the affair to the Post-Dispatch correspondent at his home in Covington, which is a suburb of Cincinnati.

Gilliam reiterated the charge that his marriage to Madeline Herbert in September, 1906, was brought about by force and fraud on her part. He obtained an uncontested divorce on the ground of desertion. The allegation as to force and fraud was made in his petition, but was not taken up by the court, the wife's desertion being deemed sufficient ground for a decree.

"I am willing to appear in any court and testify as to the facts of my marriage," said Gilliam when told that those facts would likely be placed in evidence in the annulment case.

Tells of Meeting.

"I met Madeline Peper by street flirtation at the Ludlow Lagoon, a public pleasure resort in the county, in the summer of 1905. I afterward met her frequently and secretly during the period previous to our marriage, Sept. 14, 1906.

"I was decoyed to her home in Ludlow, while in my working clothes on that date. Her brother Thomas and her father, James Herbert, locked the door on me and demanded at the point of a pistol that I marry Madeline at once. I yielded, and Tom and his sister Anna accompanied Madeline and me to the Covington Methodist Church, after we had called at the Kenton County Courthouse. The pastor married us at the parsonage.

"At the home of the girl just before our marriage, when her brother was confronting me with the gun, he threatened to kill both Madeline and myself if I did not consent to marry her that night.

"The Herbert family telephoned to the Clerk of Kenton County to wait after office hours and prepare the marriage license.

"At the time of my first acquaintance with Madeline Herbert, she said she was 18 years of age, and she was certainly a prepossessing young woman, but I would positively have never asked her hand in marriage for she had too many other admirers, and she was not in good health.

"I have never seen ... since ... arting, which occur... a street ... in Covington ... marriage, I ... her I need not live with her as her husband and I never did so."

Miss Anna Herbert, a buxom brunette of 23 years, has given up the associates of her Kentucky home to be the guardian and comforter of her sister, Mrs. Madeline Peper of 4638 West Belle place, who is facing two severe ordeals—motherhood and a suit for annulment of Adolphus Peper's marriage to her.

Since the filing of the annulment suit by Peper's legal guardian, Miss Herbert has done her utmost to protect her sister from annoyance. She has done the work of the little cottage on West Belle place, has answered the doorbell and the telephone, and has been Mrs. Peper's spokeswoman, refusing to let anyone except her lawyer see her.

She has formed no acquaintances and has had no company, though she was a social favorite in her home town. Her only recreation has been an occasional automobile ride with her sister in one of Peper's fine automobiles. Since Peper has been in St. Vincent's Insane Asylum these rides have had the asylum as their destination.

"I shall stay here as long as Madeline needs me," said Miss Herbert to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday. "I came last November, soon after her marriage. I was a witness in the hearing as to Adolph's sanity, and gave truthful testimony as to the fondness of Adolph and my sister for each other, and our happy home life.

"If false charges regarding my sister's first marriage are brought up in the trial of the annulment suit, I will be able to testify for her, as I was a witness of her marriage to John J. Gilliam, and I know that the charge of force and fraud in connection with that marriage is untrue."

NEW YORK, June 30.—For the first time since her name was mentioned in the jewel smuggling case involving Nathan Allen, the Kenosha, Wis., leather millionaire, and John R. Collins, president of the Southern Coal Co. of Nashville, Tenn., Helen Dwelle Jenkins left her apartment and went out for luncheon.

She made the trip in a limousine motor car said to have been a present from Allen. She was accompanied by private detectives she has hired to see that she is not molested.

Mrs. Jenkins was handsomely gowned in black but wore few jewels. She told newspaper men she did not wish to be questioned, as she is soon to appear before the United States grand jury as the Government's chief witness in the customs frauds.

The young woman said she had been served with a subpena calling for her appearance before the grand jury next Thursday morning. Assistant United States District Attorney Whitney went over the case with her this afternoon.

Among the persons to be interrogated are several men who were inspectors prior to the time Collector Loeb took office.

JUDGE CUTS JURY SENTENCE OF MUTE DOWN TO 2 YEARS

Accepts Thomas Meehan's Plea of Manslaughter for Killing of Man.

After a jury Friday sentenced Thomas Meeham, a deaf mute, to 10 years in the penitentiary for killing Frank Maguire, Judge McQuillin set aside the verdict, accepted a plea of guilty to manslaughter, and sentenced Meehan to two years in the penitentiary.

Meehan's written statement about the killing, which the judge read after having heard the jury's verdict, convinced him that the crime was not one of deliberation, and that the jury's verdict had been too severe.

The mute's story of the killing was written on foolscap paper. It told how Maguire and his brother-in-law, Frank Meehan, fought in their home at 2310 Biddle street, and how Thomas Meehan, suddenly deciding that his brother needed help, stabbed Maguire.

James O'Brien, Meehan's lawyer, was allowed to introduce the foolscap in evidence, after he had formally moved that the verdict be set aside, on the ground that the punishment was excessive.

The Judge said he was not disposed to set the verdict aside solely on the ground of excessive punishment, but that he would consider anything which might tend to show that a lesser degree of crime should have been charged. After reading the man's story he determined that manslaughter should have been the charge, and accepted the man's plea accordingly. He held that the mute acted suddenly and in passion, and that premeditation was absent.

The killing of Maguire occurred March 6.

Main Witnesses in Lorimer Inquiry and What They Said

THE present senatorial investigation into the Lorimer case began in Washington June 20. The principal witnesses and the substance of their testimony follow:

CYRUS M. McCORMICK: That as president of the Harvester company he had been told by his business manager, Funk, that Hines asked the corporation to contribute $10,000 toward paying off the $100,000 it cost to elect Lorimer.

RICHARD YATES, former Governor of Illinois: That he did not confer with Hines over the long-distance telephone and took no active part in the election of Lorimer, his personal friend, but political enemy.

GEORGE W. HINMAN, editor Chicago Inter Ocean: That he had supported Lorimer vigorously, and that within the last 10 weeks he had borrowed $4000 from Hines.

H. H. KOHLSAAT, editor Chicago Record-Herald: That Roosevelt snubbed Lorimer in Chicago because he was told of the election fund; that Roger Sullivan, E. S. Conway and one of the Weyerhauser family contributed to the fund.

CLARENCE FUNK: That Hines asked him for the McCormick company to contribute toward the Lorimer fund. He told of threats by telephone of being shadowed and pointed out three detectives who had followed him to Washington.

W. H. COOK: That Hines telephoned Gov. Deneen from Chicago saying he would be down with the money.

EDWARD TILDEN: That the story of his being named as custodian of the Lorimer bribe fund is false.

EDWARD HINES: That President Taft and Senators Aldrich and Penrose urged on him the necessity of electing Lorimer. He denied soliciting any contribution from Funk, saying Funk offered to contribute.

him he would probably be called to Springfield to reply to Hettler and that he remained in Chicago to be within reach.

"Don't you think you have been rather unfortunate as to the choice of gentlemen with whom you talk as shown by the testimony?"

"I don't think I have been from what has been said here."

Hines said he did not know how much money the lumber interests raised for the expenses of a committee in Washington during the tariff legislation of 1909, which was about the time Lorimer was elected. He admitted that he must have known the amount expended about the time he was asked to contribute to deficiency. He was willing to make an affidavit that it was not $75,000.

All of yesterday Mr. Hines was on the stand. His first testimony that attracted deep interest was his detailed account of how he said President Taft, former Senator Aldrich and Senator Penrose had him exert his influence to have Lorimer elected to the Senate.

President Is Silent.

It was announced at the White House tonight that the President would not discuss Hines' reiterated statement that the chief executive expressed any preference for Lorimer. At the time Hines made his declaration to the Investigating Committee of the Illinois Senate that Taft, Aldrich and Penrose had expressed a desire for Lorimer's election, friends of the President were prompt in their denial that Taft was in any way interested. It was said then that the President had merely expressed the hope that the deadlock in Illinois would be broken.

Senators Gamble, Kenyon and Jones piled the witness with questions designed to show that he knew nothing directly of President Taft's attitude on the matter. The witness asserted that at first he understood the administration was merely anxious for a Republican to be elected, but later he became convinced from some source that Mr. Lorimer was the only one that the factions could unite upon and hence it favored him.

TIMES DYNAMITE PLOT SUSPECT IS FOUND IN LONDON

Man Believed to Be David Caplain Under Surveillance of Detective Burns.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 30.—A man believed to be David Caplain, one of the alleged McNamara dynamite conspirators, is under surveillance in London. Papers are being prepared for his extradition from England to this country.

District Attorney John D. Fredericks, is in Washington conferring with Secretary of State Knox regarding the case and it is expected he will join Detective William Burns, who went to London six weeks ago and bring back the suspect.

These facts were confirmed today by officials of the District Attorney's office.

"The papers are being prepared today," said Manager E. R. Mills of the detective bureau's local agency. "Until then we cannot discuss the case. Burns, however, is in England."

Mills was asked if it was believed that Schmidt, the third man suspected of having set the bombs that destroyed the Times newspaper plant last October, also was in England.

"No," said Mills, "unless we are very much mistaken, Schmidt is somewhere in the Northwest."

The man alleged to be captured was run down by Scotland Yard men in London. According to advices received here the suspect was discovered through the instrumentality of a brother who lives in the British capital.

The first information of the case came from Secretary Knox to Gov. Johnson at Sacramento. Secretary Knox is said to have received his information officially through the British embassy at Washington.

Caldwell was divorced from his first wife in St. Louis County seven years ago. Mrs. Caldwell sued in St. Louis and the case was taken to the county on a change of venue. Both married again. The property consists of the residence at the Euclid avenue address and is valued at $5500. Caldwell is made executor of the estate without bond. Cash bequests amounting to $1400 are given to relatives and friends. The residue goes to Caldwell.

Miss Rose told some of her friends before her death that she always considered her former husband as the best friend she ever had. The will was drawn April 11, 1911.

Beneficiaries of the will besides Caldwell are Mrs. Monta B. Keene, witness to the will, $250; Henry H. Rose, a brother, $250; Joseph Anderson, a nephew, $250; Clark W. J. S. CARTER AND A. Y. WEAR HURT IN AUTO CRASH

R. W. Paramore's Machine With Seven Passengers Hits the Other Car.

CARTER WAS TOSSED OUT

He Hit on His Head—A Third Man Also Severely Injured.

John S. Carter of 4944 Lindell boulevard and two other men were hurt when two automobiles collided at 11.30 p. m. Thursday in Kirkwood. The others were Arthur Y. Wear of 5227 Washington boulevard and a man named Bascom, whose first name was not learned.

The machines belonged to Wear and Frederick W. Paramore of the Buckingham Club. Paramore's car was disabled, the other damaged but slightly.

The Paramore machine was left standing in the road, and for nine hours afterward the accident was a mystery. Passing automobilists wondered whom the wrecked car belonged to, as the license tags had been taken off of it.

Dr. John Pittman of Kirkwood, who dressed Carter's injuries, learned his name only as John Carter and did not learn the names of his companions. Inquiries by Post-Dispatch reporters resulted in the identification of Carter, but information as to how the accident occurred was refused at his home.

Dr. Pittman said Carter had a serious scalp wound five inches long, that his right hand was cut and his left wrist sprained. At the Carter home it was said his injuries were not serious.

Immediately after the accident Paramore telephoned for Gratiot Cabanne, from whom he had bought his machine, to go to the scene and bring him and his companions into town. Wear and his friends drove home in his car. It is said that Wear and Bascom escaped with slight cuts.

The accident occurred on the Denny road near the Frisco tracks.

"We had just come down a hill," Paramore said afterward, "and the other machine seemed to be stuck in the middle of the road. Anyhow, we bumped into it before we knew it. My chauffeur was driving. I do not think any of the occupants of the other car except Mr. Wear was hurt."

Carter was thrown out of the Paramore car on his head.

Four straw hats, ruined in the accident, were left at the scene. There were seven persons in Paramore's car.

Paramore's chauffeur, whose forehead was cut and his face bruised, said there were four men in the other car.

"I had just crossed the Frisco tracks when we bumped into it," he said. "The tracks are on an embankment, with a pretty steep incline on either side. I came across at fair speed and then saw the tail light of the other machine, too late to stop my car on the down grade. It must have been standing still, because we smashed through the rumble seat and knocked the machine 10 feet. Mr. Carter was thrown from the tonneau right over my head and through the windshield. He kicked me on the back of the head as he went over.

"We started from the Racquet Club at 7 o'clock, and had spent the evening at the Sunset Inn."

The chauffeur would not give his name.

SEEKS TO BE BAND LEADER

Musician Would Restore Harmony to Clayton, He Says.

Justice Werremeyer of Clayton received a communication Friday from John Olinger of 3428 Louisiana avenue, St. Louis, asking for the position of leader of the Clayton band, which was recently torn asunder by discord over the meaning of Da Capo and Del Segno in music. "Please engage an old veteran music teacher like me," Olinger writes. "I will clear the matter as to the signs D. C. and D. S. and save the band for you and Clayton."

Werremeyer says if there is any more discord in the band he will bring in an outsider as leader to restore harmony.

Hats and Gowns Foe of Polygamy, Asserts Mormon Leader Smith

JOSEPH F. SMITH.

Says the High Cost of Living Now Makes One Wife Enough for the Average Man.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Polygamy no longer is practiced by Mormons, and the man who is caught taking a plural wife is promptly excommunicated. So Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, said in an interview here.

President Smith said that he still supports, but does not live with, the wives he married prior to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States that polygamy was illegal and before the church issued its famous manifesto forbidding plural marriages.

Since his elevation to the presidency, his efforts, he said, have been directed toward inducing his followers to practice monogamy.

Asked if he thought it best for a man to have but one wife, the husband of five wives and father of 43 children replied:

"In these days of the high cost of living, there is no doubt that the average man is much better off with one wife. If a man cannot support one wife decently, it would obviously be impossible for him to support more. The women of today all demand that they be dressed and fed and housed as well as possible, and the man with an average income would be in terrible straits if he had several wives on his hands, all crying for the latest thing in hats and gowns."

President Smith, who came to Washington to appear before the Sugar Committee of the House, said he expected to depart from Washington today.

POISONED GIRL SURVIVES

Quarrel Causes Maude Weule's Attempt on Life.

An estrangement between Miss Maude Weule of 2211 Salisbury street and William Freise of 3610 North Twenty-second street caused Miss Weule to try to kill herself Thursday evening by drinking a solution of sulphur obtained by soaking matches in water. After she had been restored by Dr. C. W. Schaub she was taken to the home of an aunt, at 2003 Mallinckrodt street.

Before taking the poison, Miss Weule wrote a letter to Freise, the contents of which he refused to divulge. Afterward there was a reconciliation and Miss Weule said she would not again attempt to die.

Stole More Than $682.

Casey was convicted of embezzling $682, but his peculations ar said to have been greater than that. After his conviction he applied for a parole so that he might take care of his family, who were in destitute circumstances. Special Parole Officer Campbell investigated and found that the family were in destitute circumstances on Franklin avenue near Channing avenue, the wife and mother weak from recent confinement.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Shaner, in recommending the parole, said it was opposed by the prosecuting witnesses.

Favored by State.

"Who is doing this," asked Judge McQuillin, "the prosecuting witnesses or the State?"

Shaner said that was the way he felt about it, too. He had investigated, himself, he said, and found the case to be a very deserving one.

TAKE THIS HOME AND SHOW YOUR WIFE, MR. B. B. FAN

See if She'll Object to Your Going to Game After Judge's Decree.

Attention, fans.

The law on whether a man may attend the ball game over his wife's objections was laid down Friday by Judge Grimm.

The decision was in favor of the fans.

Cornelius Campbell of 3428 Missouri avenue testified, in Mrs. Lilian M. Campbell's suit to divorce him, that their domestic difficulties were due to the fact that she would not let him go to the game when he wanted to.

"A married man has some rights," said Judge Grimm. "If your wife objected, you should have asserted your manhood. The husband is the head of the house."

The suit was a default case. Mrs. Campbell testified Wednesday that she was married March 10, 1909, and that Campbell left her two months later, after attempting suicide with carbolic acid. She said she did not know what caused the attempt, and Judge Grimm, dissatisfied, had Campbell summoned into court. Campbell admitted that his domestic difficulties had led him to take poison. His wife nursed him to recovery at the city hospital.

"Then I left her," said Campbell. "I didn't intend ever to live with her again."

Judge Grimm gave Mrs. Campbell a decree. She lives at 3447 South Second street.

Those who try Post-Dispatch wants in solving domestic and business problems as they come, are pleased with the wants.

WIDOW, EVICTED, REFUSED TO LIVE WITH CHILDREN

Preferred to Reside Where She Had Been 13 Years to Making Home With Them.

Mrs. Alice Reddy, an invalid widow 65 years old, chose to be evicted from the house at 1318 North Twenty-second street, in which she had lived for 13 years, rather than accept the offer of several children that she make her home with one of them.

She was in arrears three months in her rent on the house, and Thursday afternoon a deputy constable moved her household goods into the yard.

Mrs. Reddy sat in a rocking chair on the porch of the house all Thursday night. She had no other place to go, and remained awake in the chair to watch her property.

Neighbors gave food to her Friday.

Mrs. Reddy said that her son, Joseph, of Pevely, Mo., was on his way to St. Louis to assist her. Her husband died three months ago, leaving her a little money, but she will be unable to get possession of it until the will is probated.

BOMB CAUSES A PANIC, 60 HURT, AT EUCHARIST PARADE

None Injured by Explosion in Madrid, but Women Are Trod Upon in Rush to Escape.

By Associated Press.

MADRID, June 30.—The Government censor stopped all news dispatches filed with the telegraph companies last night which described disorders in connection with the great Eucharist procession.

It is estimated that 60 persons received more or less severe bruises in a street panic following the explosion of a bomb in Calle Bordadores near the corner of Calle Mayor at the moment that the parade was passing through the latter thoroughfare.

No one was injured directly by the bomb, but the crowds massed on the sidewalk who had read the predictions of trouble in the morning editions of the Republican papers, cried out in alarm and started to run from the direction of the explosion.

In the resulting crush women fainted, and, sinking to the pavement, were trod upon. The police acted energetically and eventually restored order and the procession moved on. One arrest was made.

The organizers of the demonstration had warned those who participated to march in silence lest they provoke a hostile demonstration on the part of the Republicans and anti-Clericals who looked on.

The press unites today in deploring the bomb incident and felicitates the paraders and the anti-Clericals on their correct attitude in preventing conflicts.

The great Baby Show for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund closed with brilliant success on the Suburban Casino Roof Garden last night, the largest crowd of all the four evenings of the show's progress being in attendance.

The two most eagerly contested prizes, next to the grand capital prize, those offered for the best girl baby and the best boy baby at the Baby Show, were decided and awarded. The prizes consist of beautiful solid gold medals, handsomely engraved.

Little Margaret Kirten won the "best girl baby" prize and little Raymond Finke the "best boy baby" prize.

Under the terms of a generous offer from the William Barr Dry Goods Co., little Raymond Finke will be the guest of Barr's infant department from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon, and will receive from Barr's a "baby clothes shower," consisting of everything needful and pretty in the line of baby garb.

Similar honors will be bestowed by Barr's upon little Margaret Kirten tomorrow afternoon at the same hours.

The judges on active duty at the Baby Show last night, who made these and other awards, were Mrs. D. W. Knueffler, Mrs. W. F. Saunders, Mr. James W. Garneau, president of the Merchants' Exchange; Peter Anderson, Inspector of Weights and Measures; Richard Spamer, dramatic editor of the Globe-Democrat; Sig. Woolfort of the Grand-Leader, Jules Bertero and John W. Shine.

A special prize for the "best brunette boy," donated by M. Bernstein, 612 Olive street, and consisting of a solid gold ring, was awarded to little Harold Mueller.

Sweet little Charlotte Rossi won the prize for the "best brunette girl," the prize being a solid gold ring donated by M. Bernstein.

The prize for the heaviest boy baby, consisting of an imported baby dress, was won by Fred Edwin Buris, weighing 33¾ pounds.

The prize for the heaviest girl baby, an imported baby dress, was won by Gladys Jacobi, weight 33 pounds.

Little Vincent Paul, weighing 15 pounds, won the prize for the lightest boy baby, a gold signet ring.

The prize for the lightest girl baby, a set of gold beauty pins, was won by tiny Caroline Pfalender, weight 15 pounds.

The prize for the "noisiest baby" was won by little Margaret Freels, and little Miss Freels set up a mighty cry when Col. Sol Oppenheimer, manager of the baby show, presented the prize, a lovely gold necklace. It was laughingly conceded by the big audience present that Margaret Freels surely deserved this prize.

The result of only one of the big voting contests could be announced last night, so heavy was the voting in all these contests. The votes counted last night were those cast for the twin-set entries, and the Byrne twins were the winners, receiving 940 votes. The Glutz twins received 755 votes; the Dwyer twins, 489, and the Chadwin twins, 262.

Miss Marguerite Clark, godmother of the winning twins, presented special prizes to the Glutz and Chadwin twins, consisting of handsome cut glass powder boxes with sterling silver tops.

The counting of the votes cast in all other voting contests began at 10 o'clock this morning in the Suburban Casino Roof Garden offices, a committee consisting of the fathers of babies in these contests being present to supervise the count.

These voting contests will decide the winner of the grand capital prize offered for the Baby Show baby receiving the greatest number of votes cast for any one baby and consisting of a free trip to and from Excelsior Springs, the beautiful Missouri summer resort, and one week's sojourn, free, at Snapp's Hotel, leading hostelry at that resort, for the winning baby and its parents; Classes A, B. and C, for girl babies; classes D, E and F, for boy babies, and the special Class X for winners in last year's Baby Show.

The results in these voting contests will be announced in next Sunday's Post-Dispatch, at which time, also, the statement of Baby Show receipts, showing the proceeds realized for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, will be submitted.

Col. Jacob Oppenheimer, who made the speech announcing the close of this second annual Suburban Baby Show for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund last night, stated that the Pure Milk Fund would realize something between $600 and $800 as the Baby Show's net proceeds. CHILDREN HELP PURE MILK FUND.

By his quaint little songs, diminutive Edgar R. Rombauer, 4 years old, helped to earn $11.50 for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund Tuesday evening.

Master Rombauer, who is the son of the former Speaker of the House of Delegates, and seven little girls, including his sister Marion, were the principals at an entertainment in St. Margaret's Church Hall, Vandeventer and Park avenues.

The children were trained in their singing and recitations by Miss Genevieve Templeman and succeeded in pleasing an audience of more than 400 persons.

The total receipts of the entertainment were $23, half of which was given to Father Tim Dempsey's Day Nursery. The admission to the entertainment was 5 cents. Most of the tickets were sold by the children who took part in the program. Father J. J. O'Brien, who gave the children the free use of St. Margaret's Hall, was among those who enjoyed the entertainment most.

The little girls who sang and recited and assisted in selling the tickets were Rose Templeman, Margaret Templeman, Augusta Erker, Alice Betz, Louise Becker, Mildred Aude and Virginia Schrerrer. Their ages range from 8 to 11 years. Miss Genevieve Templeman was pianist

DEATH EXPECTED TO CLOSE GIRL'S 11-WEEKS SLEEP

Condition of Miss Hazel Schmidt of Vandalia, Ill., Has Puzzled Scientists.

VANDALIA, Ill., June 30.—Death appears to be drawing to a close the long period of sleep which has made the case of Miss Hazel Schmidt of Vandalia a puzzle to scientists all over the country.

For 11 weeks Miss Schmidt has been lying in a deep slumber. All efforts of relatives and physicians to awaken her have failed. But two or three times she has awakened, without any apparent cause, for a brief time, the longest period being an hour.

Her condition today has caused concern to her relatives and the physicians attending her, for her vitality appears to be waning. After a few minutes of wakefulness Wednesday, she dropped into what seemed a deeper sleep than heretofore.

Today her limbs became cold and rigid and the palor of her features deepened. for a time it seemed that life was gone. Restoratives were administered and the color gradually returned to her cheeks and her limbs became less regid, but physicians now believe death is near.

FAMOUS PAINTER DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 30.—Paul de Longpre, a famous painter of flowers, died at his home in Hollywood last night from a complication of diseases, from which he had suffered for the last two years. De Longpre was born in Lyons, France, in 1855.

Until De Longpre was 12 years old he attended public schools in Paris. At that age he began to paint flowers on fans, and from this beginning he became one of the most noted of floral painters.

TEN WORKMEN KILLED WHEN A ROOF COLLAPSES

Seven Others Are Injured by Accident to Buffalo's New Pumping Station.

By Associated Press.

BUFFALO, June 30.—Ten workmen were crushed to death and seven others seriously injured today in the collapse of the roof and other portions of the Buffalo Water Department's new pumping station.

The dead were buried in a pit where they were working beneath hundreds of tons of steel, bricks and mortar. Most of the injured were at work on the roof, which was 300 feet long and 100 feet wide.

About 200 feet of this suddenly fell in from some cause not yet determined.

One of the injured died in an ambulance and two died at hospitals.

Bogus Calls at Night Summon Him to Vacant Lots and Strangers' Houses.

Goaded to desperation by practical jokers, Dr. N. E. Mills of 1012 East Park place, in the extreme northern section of the city, has applied to the prosecuting authorities and the police for relief.

Dr. Mills says that the jokers are making a practice of calling him by telephone at night. When he responds to the calls he finds vacant lots or homes in which no one is ill, he says.

[SE]CURITIES ARE STEADY IN THE EASTERN MARKET

[...] in Grain Prices, However, Holds Speculation in Check.

New York, June 30.

[...] market closed irregular. Pres[sure] of offerings was small, but the [stren]gth in the grain pits made trad[ers c]autious. The outside demand [was s]light at all stages. Last prices [gene]rally showed small losses.

[Sto]cks failed to reflect unusual anxiety [over] the indictments returned against [leadi]ng trust officials yesterday and [the] prices showed only small changes. United States Steel stocks met good [supp]ort at a slight decline and there was [some] buying in some of the specialties. [The] copper stocks were easy.

[Lo]ndon prices showed an irregular trend before the local opening, al[thou]gh the losses were confined to small [fract]ions. The settlement at that cen[ter] concludes today. The charging rate [on] American stocks over the new fort[nigh]tly period was slightly advanced.

Trade advices are improving despite [g]overnmental activity against corpora[ti]ons and the United States Steel Co. [re]ports 70 per cent of its capacity in [o]peration. The Canadian Pacific Rail[r]oad has placed a rail order for 30,000 [t]ons. The Bureau of Corporations re[p]ort on the Steel Corporation tomorrow [w]ill show its capital control and profits. The seamen's strike abroad is spread[i]ng and has caused rioting in several [p]laces.

There was no general relief over night [t]o the drouth conditions in the South[w]est, the weather map showing clear [s]kies in the corn belt and indications [f]or another day of sizzling tempera[t]ures. The Northwest had scattered [s]howers, but not sufficient to help spring wheat in the South Dakota district and weather conditions daily are becoming more of an advance market factor. The cotton belt had additional rains and conditions in the South are somewhat improved.

Talk of Canadian Pacific buying con[t]rol of Erie persists despite denials. As for Canadian Pacific purchasing Erie however, it seems that Canadian Pacific would not derive any very great bene[fit] from such an acquisition, for the rea[s]on that it will not afford the road any increased traffic facilities nor much, if any, increase in tonnage. The rela[t]ions between the Canadian Pacific and the New York Central are of the most amicable kind, and afford the former road practically all that it desires. There is then no reason for disturbing the relationship that exists between the two roads by Canadian Pacific's seeking the same outlet and source of some of its traffic over another route and at a large outlay.

Three years ago Erie was facing a pos[s]ible receivership. Last year the com[p]any earned 4 per cent for both its first and second preferred stocks with a sur[p]lus left over equal to 3 per cent on its large amount of outstanding com[m]on. For the current year so far Erie has shown an increase of over $1,250,000 in gross and over $285,000 in net, whereas its competitive roads, like Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central, have shown material decreases in net, despite in[c]rease in gross.

The pool in American Can preferred continues fairly active. In the last 19 [y]ears the directors of the Can company [h]ave voted about $8,000,000 of earnings [f]or new construction, and not a dollar [o]f capital obligation has been issued [a]gainst this new work. This is equal to [2]0 a share on the preferred stock and [o]ffsets, in a measure, the outstanding [7] per cent in accumulated preferred [d]ividends, which are held against the [co]mpany.

As the plants and other properties of [th]e American Can Co. are in the best [p]ossible shape for a long run, and the [n]ew construction is nearly all done, [t]here seems no reason why there should [n]ot be an increase in the preferred divi[d]end within the next year at least. Earnings have increased at a steady [r]ate for several years and there is every reason to believe that a new record will be made at the close of 1911.

The impending prosecution of the Har[v]ester Trust by the Government has [t]aken the starch out of the rich pool, [w]hich has manipulated the common [s]tock for months. Fortunately for the [p]ool, it has succeeded in unloading [b]locks. The stock, not long ago, was [m]arked up to 129, but has been weak [s]ince prosecution rumors started.

The recent slight improvement in Pa[c]ific Mail was brought about by senti[m]ent merely. As the building of rail[r]oads in China has started on a large [s]cale, a goodly part of the material will [c]ome from the United States and this [f]reight ought to, in due time, benefit the [P]acific Mail Steamship Co. a great deal.

[D]ETAILED REPORTS OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 30.—The stock market [de]veloped an irregular tone in the early [tr]ading today. United States Steel, Union [Pa]cific, Amalgamated Copper and several [ot]her active stocks declined fractionally, [g]iving the market an appearance of heavi[ne]ss. American Telephone sold ex-dividend [an]d ex-rights at 139¼, as compared with [ye]sterday's close of 148¼. St. Louis & [Sou]thern preferred gained a point.

The irregularity of the market at the out[set] led to a sharp drive by the bears, who [su]cceeded in depressing the leading stocks [sh]arply. The selling was based primarily [on] yesterday's indictments of various cor[por]ations and their officials. Union Pacific, [So]uthern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and [Am]algamated Copper and American Beet [Sug]ar sagged somewhat from 1 to 1⅝.

The institution of anti-trust proceedings [aga]inst wire manufacturers was the govern[ing] factor in the movement of stocks this [mo]rning. Declines of a point or more were [rec]orded among the list of active stocks. [Un]ited States Steel was less active than had [bee]n expected, however, and its loss was [co]nfined to a fraction. Irregular recoveries [wer]e not well sustained in the second hour, [the] higher prices inviting fresh selling, [whi]ch was most effective in the Harriman [iss]ues and United States Steel. Brooklyn [Tra]nsit was bid up a point in the subway [dea]ls and there was also a large absorp[tion] of the Erie stocks at rising prices. [...]s were irregular.

[W]all street offerings caused further [...] in the afternoon, and the market [clos]ed easy.

[Fl]oor traders bought the Erie stocks heav[ily] for a time, and some outside orders were [rec]eived. These issues touched the best [pric]es of the year, the common selling at [...] the first preferred at 60 and the second [pre]ferred at 48⅛. The rise was due in [par]t to reports that control would pass to [Can]adian Pacific.

[E]rie second preferred established a gain [of] 1⅛, but the other Erie issues did not rise [abo]ve their previous figures. In general the [ma]rket was at a standstill with prices hover[ing] close to the lowest.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

For the shorter maturities there has been a somewhat better inquiry during the past few days. As a direct result of this rates have hardened appreciably. Whether or not this is due to a general revival of inquiry from the interior or simply the usual July 1 interest and dividend disbursement period remains to be seen. Quotations have been 4½ to 4¾ per cent on large amounts and 5 per cent for four to six months on smaller and less important accounts. The concensus of opinion in St. Louis banking circles at this time is that firmer quotations will be the rule for the next few weeks and through the crop-moving season.

CORN UP VERY CLOSE TO THE 62-CENT MARK

Sizzling Weather in Southwest Sends Price to Record on Crop.

Corn rose nearly 2 cents a bushel Friday, came within a fraction of 62 cents and made a new high record figure on the crop. Hot weather in the Southwest, with the mercury over the 100-degree mark, following like temperatures yesterday, and a forecast showing no change of conditions in sight, was the force behind the advance.

The Oklahoma State crop report also was bullish. It showed a condition at the close of June on corn of 50.9, against 82 last month. Wheat condition at harvest was 45, against 53 on June 1, and 88 last year. Wheat yield is 8.6 bu, against 16.7 bu last year, and indicates a crop of 9,658,000 bu, against 25,363,000 bu last year. Oats condition was 33, against 53 on June 1 and 47 last year. Yield is 14.5 bu per acre, compared with 36.9 bu a year ago.

Reports on wheat were not generally unfavorable, but the price reflected anxiety over the corn situation and damage advices from the spring territory.

Traders are beginning to talk higher prices on wheat for the first time in months. They say with corn worth 61c and oats 46c, that 90c wheat is entirely out of line. They claim that wheat prices may be held down temporarily by the run of new wheat to market, and by the fact that the trade finds it hard to shift to the bull side after feeding so long on bear dope, but that after the fall movement of wheat is passed the price should adjust itself proportionately to the value of corn and oats. This, they claim, would mean "dollar wheat" in the good old winter time.

Liverpool wheat market was quiet, but steady on American cables, which offset estimates of smaller world's shipments. Continental markets were quiet and heavy. Some inquiry for forward shipments and less favorable Russian advices were bullish influences. Corn at Liverpool was strong on hot Russian weather, firm Danubian offers and an improved spot demand.

Liverpool spot wheat closed unchanged to ⅛d up, futures unchanged to ⅛d up. Spot corn ⅜d up, futures ⅞@1d up. Paris wheat 1½c lower, flour ⅜c lower. Antwerp wheat unchanged. Berlin ⅜c up, Budapest ⅜c lower than Wednesday.

Broomhall estimates the world's shipments for the week, exclusive of North America, at 10,000,000 bu. Last week's shipments, America included, were 11,532,000 bu, against this week last year of 8,299,000 and 8,727,000 bu in 1909.

Argentine wheat shipments for the week were 1,416,000 bu, against 1,816,000 bu last week and 936,000 bu last year. Corn, none, against none last week and 2,610,000 bu last year. Wheat shipments Jan. 1 to date, 63,328,000 bu, against 47,172,000 bu last year. Corn, 2,960,000 bu, against 15,232,000 bu last year.

Minneapolis wheat cars today totaled 152, against last week 136, last year 196. Duluth had 12, last week 31, last year 38. Winnipeg had 216, last week 138, last year 163.

Local wheat receipts today were 105,600 bu, or 86 cars local, 10 through; last year 19,200 bu, or 15 cars local, 1 through.

Corn receipts, 88,500 bu, or 68 cars local, 6 through; last year 84,000 bu, or 61 cars local, 6 through.

Oats receipts, 73,100 bu, or 24 cars local, 19 through; last year 18,200 bu, or 11 cars local.

Chicago wheat receipts today were 25,200 bu, against 3600 bu last year. Shipments, 12,700 bu, against 28,700 bu last year. Kansas City receipts 154,000 bu against 70,800 bu last year. Shipments, 49,200 bu, against 69,600 bu last year.

Total primary wheat receipts today were 536,689 bu, against 374,474 bu last year. Shipments, 158,516 bu, against 196,708 bu last year.

B. W. Snow's crop report said:

"The recurrence of intense heat without any relieving rainfall west of the Mississippi River places part of the corn crop in danger. Early corn is ready to tassel as far North as Kansas and in this stage is most susceptible to heat injury. Previous heat and dry weather have forced growth, and there is already complaint of tasseling low. In Texas and Oklahoma the crop has been largely destroyed and the conditions which brought about this loss are being repeated farther North.

"There is no disaster as yet, but the crop in the South half of Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas is in a position to easily sustain permanent damage, while in Nebraska and portions of Iowa the vitality of the plant is being severely tested. Last week was rainless at weather stations at Wichita, Oklahoma, Dodge, Topeka, Concordia, Lincoln, Columbia, Mo., and with a mere fraction at other stations in this district, while the total rainfall since March 1 in this section of the corn belt ranges from a minimum of 38 per cent of normal at Kansas City to 41 at Topeka, 43 at Springfield, Mo., 46 at Oklahoma, 49 at Concordia, 52 at Wichita and 54 at Omaha.

"The corn crop in this territory has stood up wonderfully under this abnormal combination of great heat and dry weather, but it is approaching the breaking point unless there is speedy and generous relief."

Canadian advices reported "black rust" in wheat. Traders regarded the news as a fake, but sections of Canada have had heat, then moisture. This induces rank stalk growth, and if continued until the grain comes into head, favors the development of rust. Some shorts covered on the report.

Showing the strength in the position of corn, one Texas house had a bid in the St. Louis market for 75 cars at tonight's closing price. This demand usually goes to Kansas City.

MODERN MILLER.

Threshing returns indicate that winter wheat is yielding satisfactory results, some reports claiming yields beyond expectations. The quality of the grain generally is good. Short yields continue to be heard from, the damage being caused by the hot weather or Hessian fly. Most of the poor yields are in the soft winter wheat states. Kansas reports many large yields of hard winter. In some sections of Illinois and Missouri smut infests the wheat.

Mrs. Emma H. Doelling filed suit for divorce Thursday against John L. Doelling. Besides receiving letters from and writing to other women, Mrs. Doelling alleges that her husband pulled her hair and dragged her about the house. She also says he slapped and struck her. They were married Aug. 21, 1898, and separated a week ago.

JUDGE RULES HUSBAND IS BOSS OF THE HOME

Entitled to Select Food and Rule Household, for He Pays the Bills.

SURINGFIELD, Mass., June 30.—These recipes for the guidance of wives and husbands in case of difference over household economy were laid down by Judge Charles L. Long in the separate support case brought by Mrs. Edith S. Marsh against Henry D. Marsh, assistant treasurer of the Five Cent Savings Bank:

To begin with, the husband is absolute lord and master of the exchequer.

Under the law he is entitled to his meals at any hour he wants them.

He may select such food as he chooses. If he wants one food and his wife another, the husband's decision goes.

A servant girl to whom the husband objects must be discharged.

Finally, man, who pays the bills, and not woman, is boss.

Judge Long advised the Marshs to patch up their differences. Marsh left the courtroom wreathed in smiles. Mrs. Marsh did not indorse the Court's opinions, and said so.

RIDING CLUB TO GO TO DINNER ON MOUNTS

More Than 150 Men and Women to Gather at Blair Monument for Ride to Delmar.

One of the most striking displays of fine horses and smart riders ever seen in St. Louis will be presented at 6 p. m. Friday at the Lindell boulevard entrance of Forest Park.

More than 150 members of the St. Louis Riding Club are expected to gather, on their mounts, at the Blair monument at that hour, for the ride over the bridle path to Delmar Garden.

Women are included in the club's membership, and it is expected that all the women members who are in the city will take the ride. A special detail of mounted policemen will be at the Blair monument to help in preventing accidents from skittishness of any of the animals, some of which are not thoroughly automobile broke.

David B. Aloe, president of the club, will ride his high school stepper, Queen Babe. Other prize-winning horses will be ridden by various members of the club.

The club will take dinner at the Delmar Garden Villa at 7 p. m., and occupy front seats at the performance of "Little Boy in Blue" an hour and a half later. The extension of the bridle path will be discussed by members of the club after the dinner.

ARDENT LETTERS OF MILLIONAIRE IN GIRL'S SUIT

Lumberman Was Lonesome When Away From "Darling;" She Asks $100,000.

"BILLY" WRITES TO "BABY"

But Third Letter Shows Drastic Change After Love Grew Cold.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, June 30.—An inkling of the unbounded affection which welled up in the heart of William H. Gilbert, millionaire lumberman, for Mrs. Lillian V. Hamer, the former cashier of the Congress Hotel, was given out today.

Attorney V. B. Scott, who has charge of Mrs. Hamer's $100,000 breach of promise suit made public two letters which he says form a small part of a mass of lover-like epistles written by Gilbert before his love for Mrs. Hamer waned. The letters follow:

My Dear Lillian—I am lonesome for you. It seems a month since last Tuesday. I do not know what is wrong with me. I am thinking of you always. I wish that you were with me. I am going cruising tomorrow. I will miss you. Let me know when you intend to visit Milwaukee. Are things going all right in Chicago? My darling, the nights are long and the days are longer, each day an age. I fear lest you forget me, although I am sure you love your own BILLY.

My Dear Baby: I was glad to have you meet friends in Milwaukee. Did you notice the looks on their faces? They were certainly surprised. But why should they be, my own? Have I not been with you enough to have them notice something? I am longing for another visit from you. I enjoy your company so much. When I am away from Chicago I want you, and when you are not with me I want to be in Chicago. God bless you, my dear, and remember me as your own.

BILLY.

Then came the waning of Mr. Gilbert's ardor and another letter written in quite another vein. The following is said to be an excerpt from the last letter Mrs. Hamer received:

I received a letter from your attorney asking for an appointment. I do not wish to see you. I am going on a trip to Texas. Name your price and I will settle. You had better spare the publicity.

This letter is said to have been written shortly after Mr. Gilbert informed Mrs. Hamer that his physicians had advised him not to marry.

HEATHENS ALL IN WEST, SAYS HINDOO

Swami Declares Christians Lose $20,000,000 Annually in Missions in East.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Most conspicuous among the passengers in the cabins of La Province, departing, was Baba Bharita, Hindoo philosopher and teacher, who has been in California 13 months.

Baba Bharita spoke satirically of the "Western heathens." He hails from Muttra, India, and once worked on an English newspaper in Kipling's town.

"Christianity in your land has lost its interpreters," the Swami said. "It is not Christianity at all, it is churchanity, and it is not based upon humanity. Your best preachers are not Christians; they are machine-made products of theological seminaries.

"Your Ten Commandments are nothing but childish prattle. We Hindoos are taught that at the breast of our mothers. The $20,000,000 that your churches annually send to the East is entirely lost. All the heathens in the world live in the West. Your country needs missionary work at home."

Baba said he had in this country 5000 adherents, mostly women, and added: "The world would fall to pieces if it were not for the religion of women. The religion of women is the saving grace of this country."

MRS ABRAMS GETS A SIX-MONTHS' SENTENCE

Passer of Forged Checks Withdraws Insanity Plea and Admits Guilt.

Mrs. Rose Abrams, who pleaded insanity when tried two weeks ago for passing forged checks, and whose case resulted in a mistrial, withdrew her former plea and entered one of guilty in Judge Taylor's division Thursday afternoon.

"Are you crazy?" asked the Judge. That plea had been offered for her.

"Well, I hope not," replied Mrs. Abrams firmly. "At least I am not crazy enough to remain in jail until I get another trial, when I might just as well be serving a sentence. I want to have this matter settled."

"You don't impress me as being insane," said the Judge. "Six months in the workhouse."

HENRY VANDERWAL MISSING TEN DAYS

Disappears After Telling Wife "I've Just Got to Go Somewhere."

Relatives are searching for Henry Vanderwal, 70 years old, who disappeared from his home at 5440 Columbia avenue 10 days ago.

On the night of his disappearance he walked to the street car with a neighbor family going away for a summer vacation and helped carry the baggage.

When he returned home he went to the basement. His wife called to him, asking why he did not come upstairs. A few minutes later she saw him leave the house. When she asked him where he was going he replied: "I've just got to go somewhere." No member of his family has seen him since.

SPECTATOR AT TRIAL OF FRIEND ARRESTED

Prosecuting Witness Identifies Him as Accomplice of Man on the Dock.

While attending the trial of a friend in Judge Taylor's division of the Criminal Court Thursday afternoon John Connoughton was arrested on a charge of complicity in the offense for which his friend, Charles Towell, was being tried.

Mrs. Margaret Ryan of 2910 Hickory street accused Towell and Connoughton of having assaulted her in her home. She had previously charged Connoughton with stealing her dead husband's coat, but he was freed of that charge by a jury.

In her testimony Thursday against Towell Mrs. Ryan implicated Connoughton, who was sitting in the rear of the courtroom. Under instructions from Deputy Circuit Attorney Rudolph, Connoughton was arrested.

HENWOOD'S TRIAL FOR KILLING OF VON PHUL, JULY 5

Counsel for Man Found Guilty of Murdering Copeland to Demand New Hearing.

JUROR IS QUESTIONED

Admits, Under Grilling of Defendant's Lawyer, Using Another Name Than His Own.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DENVER, Colo., June 30.—Frank H. Henwood, convicted of murder in the second degree for killing George E. Copeland, will be tried, according to the court docket, on the charge of murdering S. Louis von Phul of St. Louis, July 5.

After the verdict in the Copeland case was announced yesterday Judge Whitford announced he would not redocket the von Phul case, but doubted if it would be reached on that day.

The penalty for murder in the second degree in Colorado is from 10 years to life imprisonment.

Judge Whitford granted a 10-days' stay of execution to permit the defendant's counsel opportunity to file a motion for a new trial. Henwood maintained his calm demeanor when the verdict was announced.

"I am disappointed, of course," he said, "but I am sure that if a second trial is granted I ultimately will regain my freedom."

The jurymen refused to be interview. Foreman John Baxter said that they had made a compact not to disclose what happened in the jury room.

The count on which Henwood was tried, charged wilful, deliberate murder and the plea of Henwood was self-defense. This plea was based on previous quarrels between von Phul and Henwood, during two of which blows were struck. The defense also claimed that von Phul was reaching for a pistol and that Henwood fired fearing his life was in danger.

Attorney Bottom for the defense said that Henwood's case would be carried to the Supreme Court, if necessary. After the verdict had been announced Attorney Bottom asked leave to question "juryman No. 1." This was granted.

Bottom then questioned him as to his "correct" name. He had been accepted under the name of Joseph Duval. Bottom asked him if his real name was not Talisferro. He admitted that was one of his given names. Asked if he had not lived in Cripple Creek under that name he said, "Only for a short time."

Judge Whitford at this juncture cut off the examination, apprising him of the fact that the time for examining jurors had passed. Bottom saved one exception.

WIFE TO INVESTIGATE DEATH OF HUSBAND

Mrs. A. H. White Goes to Costa Rica, Where She Left Traveler in Good Health.

BOSTON, June 30.—Her suspicions of foul play aroused by the reports of the death of her husband, Austin Hollis White, a sportsman and traveler, while engaged in supervising the survey of a Government concession in Liberia, Costa Rica, Mrs. White started to Costa Rica today to investigate. She also wishes to learn what became of large sums of money White had collected there.

Dispatches say that White died of an affection of the liver.

Mrs. White spent February and March with her husband and left him in perfect health.

White was widely known in business circles. He accompanied Peary on a trip north, having been commissioned by the Smithsonian Institution to collect fossils. President McKinley appointed him as the first commissioner to Alaska.

...ERM IN JAIL FOR STEEL MEN TO BE FEDERAL DEMAND

Government Prosecutor Wants Maximum Sentence of One Year for 84 Wire Company Officials, Indicted for Forming Illegal Combination.

TRUE BILLS NAME NINE CORPORATIONS

Defendants to Appear Next Week, but Counsel for One of the Accused Expresses Doubt if Cases Ever Will Come to Trial.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Federal indictments against nine wire pools, several of which have been out of business since 1909, and 84 wire manufacturers and their employes on charges of restraining trade in wire products, were subject matters of consideration today by several of the defendants and their counsel.

The defendants will appear in person or by counsel before the United States Circuit Court next week. None of the defendants had any statement to make today, although one of the counsel in the case remarked that he did not think the cases would ever come to trial.

District Attorney Wise of the United States Court, with two of his assistants, Messrs. Crim and Frank Furter, who assisted in preparing the cases, have left the city for a brief vacation. Wise has gone to Massachusetts, it was said, and would not return before July 10.

Assistant District Attorney Dorr who was asked today if the wire indictments meant the inception of further indictments against steel makers replied that information on that point would have to come from the Department of Justice at Washington.

Bench Warrants Not Issued.

The wire manufacturers will appear for pleading July 5 when the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court, Judge Archibald presiding, next convenes. No bench warrants have been issued nor have any arrests been made, but counsel for the defendants will be asked to produce them in court.

It was learned today that the delay of the Federal Grand Jury in handing down the indictments was due to the ... appearance of Herbert L. Satter... son-in-law of J. P. Power Cable Association, Weatherproof and Magnet Wire Association, Rubber Covered Wire Association, Lead Encased Rubber Cable Association, Wire Rope Association.

According to the Government, the nine corporations indicted represent pools formed by the various concerns for the purpose of restraining trade illegally and fixing prices. In the indictment against the Bare Copper Wire Association it is charged that the corporations forming the association produced 95 per cent of the entire bare copper wire consumed in the United States, and that they are enabled to fix prices.

Fine For Over-Production.

On June 1, 1908, the indictment charges, the defendants, by written articles of agreement, entered into a voluntary association that was to continue until May last without the right of any party to withdraw.

One of the agreements provided that any corporation exceeding the allotment should deposit with the treasurer 50 cents for each 100 pounds excess.

When William P. Palmer, head of the American Steel and Wire Co., was informed of his indictment he said:

"This is all new to me. There is nothing to say."

At the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., Thomas W. Lamont, one of the members of that firm, said that he had no knowledge concerning members of the associations mentioned in the indictment.

Frank Jay Gould and Edwin E. Jackson Jr., supervisor of all the associations mentioned in the indictments, now are in Europe.

Chairman Gary Knows of No Reason for Indictments.

LONDON, June 30.—Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Corporation, of which the American Steel & Wire Co. is a subsidiary concern, declined today to discuss at length the Federal indictments found against the latter company and other corporations and partnerships in the alleged wire pools. His only comment was: "I know nothing about the action and therefore have nothing to say of it. All I can say is that I know no reason for the indictments against the companies."

J. Pierpont Morgan maintained a sphinx-like attitude on the subject of indictments, which include his son-in-law, Herbert Satterlee. Callers at his house desirous of interviewing him were informed that he will not see anyone. Telegrams addressed to him on the subject remained unanswered.

Gould Refuses to Discuss His Indictment.

PARIS, June 30.—Frank J. Gould, who, as president of the Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works, is one of those indicted by the United States grand jury at New York for offenses against the Sherman anti-trust law, is stopping here. Gould said today he would have no comment to make concerning the indictment until he had received fuller and personal information from New York.

WOMAN'S CONFESSION AS SLAYER DISBELIEVED

Declares She Killed Man Last January, but Says Shooting Was Accident.

WARREN, Pa., June 30.—Mrs. Stella Hodge, the woman arrested in Philadelphia upon her alleged confession of shooting Emile Amann here on Jan. 27, was brought to this place today and was taken before the Justice of the Peace, before whom she was formally charged with the murder of Amann.

Mrs. Hodge had no counsel, but when told she would be given the right to a preliminary hearing replied:

"Why, I killed Emile Amann, but it was not intentional. It was an accident."

No action has been taken in the case by the county authorities. The county officials and the community generally disbelieve the woman's confession.

To Cure Sore Bunions

Treatment Marvelously Quick for This and all Foot Troubles.

"Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water; soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) Repeat this each night until cure is permanent."

All pain and inflammation is drawn out instantly and the bunion soon is reduced to normal size. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off and will stay off. Sore, tender feet and smelly, sweaty feet need but a few treatments. A twenty-five cent package of Calocide is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Calocide is no longer confined only to doctors' use. Any druggist has it, in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. This will prove a welcome item to persons who have been vainly trying to cure their foot troubles with ineffectual tablets and foot powders.—ADV.

Millionaire Denies Any Impropriety, but Adds He Would Not Tell if There Was.

SHE WEEPS ON STAND

Mrs. Gambier Declares Sickler Never Kissed Her While in His Auto.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The wife of Edward V. Gambier, cashier of the Merchants' National Bank, wept in Supreme Court Justice Pendleton's part when she was forced to answer questions made necessary by her husband's defense in her suit for separation. Though the lawyers on both sides strove to make it as easy as possible, she was all a quiver and her face deadly pale when they allowed her to go back to her seat.

The answers she whispered from behind her fan were inaudible to the lawyers and the stenographer had to repeat them so all the court could hear. Her handkerchief was a sodden wisp of lace when she was through and she hid with a heavy veil her reddened eyelids and trembling lips.

Immediately before she was called to the stand yesterday she had heard Harvey C. Sickler, the fertilizer millionaire, deny that he had been unduly intimate with her. And in the next breath she heard him declare that, though under oath, he would not admit improper relations with her if there had been any.

Husband Watches Her.

Through it all Gambier watched her, his face alternately calm or flushed and perspiring as some personal reference to himself was made.

Sickler admitted that he had taken Mrs. Gambier out many times in his automobile, but maintained that she had never visited him in his apartment unless accompanied by some other woman.

"Did you ever manifest any such demress Mrs. Gambier in your car, as these detectives have testified?" asked Van Wyck.

"I did not," was the emphatic reply.

"Did yo uever manifest any such demonstrations of affection toward her at any time or in any place?" asked the lawyer, and again in most positive terms Sickler replied:

"I never did."

Mrs. Gambier followed him on the stand. She denied, in answer to Van Wyck, that she had told a woman she met in Germany on her honeymoon that she had married the bank cashier simply to come to New York. The lawyer pressed her for the conversation on that occasion.

Called Him Hans.

"I recall," she said, slowly tapping her knee with her fan, "that in the party at Munich they called Mr. Gambier 'Hans.' I don't know why. One day Miss Dodge of the party, sitting across the table from me beside Mr. Gambier, exclaimed: 'Oh, Mrs. Gambier, Hans is holding my hand.'

"I didn't know just what to say, the remark seemed so funny, but I just answered, 'Well, if he is, don't stop him, because I didn't know he had it in him.' That's the only time I made any remark that could be twisted into a slur on Mr. Gambier. And I only said it in fun, though it was true enough."

Gambier flushed and his confusion was not lightened by the titter that ran around the room.

"Have you ever been alone with Mr. Sickler in his apartment?"

"I never was alone there in my life with him or anyone else," she replied.

"Have you ever allowed him to hug or kiss you or hold you in his lap?"

"That is equally false," she exclaimed, a break coming in her voice. "No such thing ever occurred."

"Did you ever violate your marriage vows with Mr. Sickler?" said the lawyer, and at the words Mrs. Gambier broke down. From behind her fan she sobbed a denial. A general question as to other men was answered the same way.

Makes General Denial.

"Have you ever told your husband or anybody that you did not love him while you were together?"

Once more her eyes filled up. "I never did, never," she replied.

"And did you really love him?"

"I really did, sir," was the stenographer's reply, reading her answer.

"And you never made any false representations of love to him, or sought to deceive him into matrimony?"

"Never," read the stenographer.

Attorney Martin Littleton began his cross-examination with an attempt to make it appear that she had misled the date of her mother's leaving New York, but gave up the effort. Then he went directly to the subject matter of Gambier's suit for annulment.

"Didn't he ask you if you had married him with the idea of living apart?" asked Littleton, and she replied: "Yes, but I replied 'No,' and with that he went right off to his own room," said Mrs. Gambier.

This with some inconsequential testimony ended the taking of evidence and Justice Pendleton called the annulment suit. Judge Van Wyck at once asked that a jury trial be ordered in that case, which Littleton o... posed. Justice Pendleton will decid... question today and meanwhile h... decision in the ...

MRS. A. P. JAMES IS INDICTED FOR KILLING HUSBAND

Woman Soon to Be Placed in Maternity Ward Charged With First Degree Murder.

MAKES UNUSUAL DEFENSE

Brother Said She Declared Husband Concealed True State of Health From Her.

Mrs. Alma Palmer James, who shot and killed her husband, Leo B. James, in their flat, 4457A Lexington avenue, is charged with first degree murder in an indictment returned by the June grand jury Friday.

The grand jury devoted the greater part of its time to the consideration of this case, because of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the crime and the unusual arguments urged in Mrs. James' defense by her attorneys and her relatives.

Plea Suggests Motive.

After the shooting, it was said by Mrs. James' brother that she had told him that she was driven to desperation by the pain and anguish her husband had caused her by concealing from her the true state of his health.

This, it was said, had affected her not only mentally, but physically, and suggested a probable motive for the shooting.

It is not known what evidence was submitted to the grand jury, but it is known that a member of the city hospital visiting staff frequently saw Mrs. James after she was taken to the observation ward of the hospital.

Tries Wasserman Test.

This physician three times applied the Wasserman bolod test to determine Mrs. James' physical state. After the last application of the test, it was said that there were no indications of physical derangement.

Held at City Hospital.

This report was sent to the Circuit Attorney's office the day before the grand jury started its investigation. About the same time City Hospital physicians reported that they had found no indication that Mrs. James was insane. One of the points urged in her behalf was that there had been an alleged streak of insanity in her family. This assertion also is said to have been investigated by the grand jury.

Mrs. James is still a prisoner at the city hospital. She would have been sent to the city jail a month ago but for the fact that hospital physicians reported that she must soon be placed in the maternity ward.

An indictment charging first degree murder was also issued against Thomas Wilson, accused of killing John R. Smith in a fight at the west end of the Eads Bridge a week ago.

Massie B. Chambers was indicted on a charge of arson, the accusation being that he set fire to his home at 4426 Wallace avenue, June 2. The grand jury will reconvene Sept. 1.

"ST. LOUIS HAS THE GOODS."

Members of some old St. Louis families who ead in Thursday's Post-Dispatch of the sale of a 7-foot Olive street lot for $300,000 must have felt like following the example of the late Bill Nye, who used to swear at the pictures of his ancesors because, when they might have been buying Manhattan Island for a few coonskins, they were ing for full-length portraits in oil.

THE MAYOR'S CONSCIENCE.

The summary dismissal from the Water Department of 30 employes who held their positions through the influence of Peter Anderson is too eloquently brazen to permit doubt of motives. Anderson is a supporter of Republican Chairman Kiel, whom Mayor Kreismann and Jeptha D. Howe have been trying vainly to oust from his chairmanship. He is being punished for his failure to desert Kiel. His sins of disloyalty to the patronage power are being visited on 30 innocents who presumably held their places by virtue of their fitness to discharge the duties attached to them.

The discharged 30 were coal passers, oilers, firemen and dynamo tenders. It is a fair assumption that they gave honest service for honest wages and have dependent wives, children and parents. No question of their competency was raised. Their politics is of no importance. Republican or Democrat, they suffer alike in this Republican row.

There is no characterization for the action of dismissal except abuse of power and indifference to efficiency in the municipal service. It is a distinct and deplorable reversal of Mayor Kreismann's first position which he emphasized by standing stubbornly for the appointment of Travilla as Street Commissioner on the ground of merit. Public opinion was all on his side then as it must be all against him now.

These contrasted actions make the whole situation more regrettable. Nobody cares particularly whether Kreismann and Howe skin Kiel or whether Kiel flays Kreismann and Howe. Of the merits or demerits of that party brawl the Republican voters may judge. They may place their support where they please when the time comes, or have the recourse of honest citizens to vote for honesty wherever they can find it. But the use of a prerogative, which involves a public trust, as the means to victory in a factional quarrel for control of a party machine, is a public matter.

Before reported threats to cut off from the pay rolls others who owe their places to other untouchable committeemen are carried out, Mayor Kreismann should take counsel of his conscience and learn that as Mayor his first duty is to the city and as a man his first duty is to himself and in neither case to scheming advisers who look upon him only as a cat's paw.

The charge is gravely made that someone has been lying in the Lorimer case. It is official confirmation of a suspicion that somehow was widely entertained.

MISPLACED WORRY.

Discussing what he is pleased to call the "prosecution and persecution" of corporations in the current Collier's, E. C. Simmons of this city deplores the hostile feeling of the people toward corporations and advocates, as a remedy, corporate bond issues in units of $100 to tempt small investors. If the people had their little surpluses invested in corporation bonds at 5, 6 or 7 per cent, instead of in the savings banks at 3 to 4, Mr. Simmons thinks there would be the necessary "radical change in public sentiment" toward corporations.

Dismissing certain concrete objections in the form of popular suspiciousness of anything but concrete financial institutions, Mr. Simmons' remedy is entirely practicable. His basic error is his easy assumption that the thing to be changed is only the attitude of the people. This attitude is merely a product of incorporated and merged activity. Popular sentiment is the most plastic of materials. It can be molded into any form except approval of dishonesty, tyranny, greed and graft. The corporations made the people hostile by being hostile to the people. If they change their attitude the popular attitude will change as a matter of course.

We have had enough instances of this to know that its effectiveness as a remedy is obvious. The remedy, in fact, is not to dose the people with investments, but to dose the corporations with restraints. This is precisely what is being done and the dosage is being carefully regulated according to the particular corporation's needs. If Mr. Simmons can find a speedier cure for the corporations, he needn't worry about the people.

Ex-Senator Aldrich has yet to explain how he happened to hit on Hines as the man most likely to "put Lorimer over," and, of course, he will.

THE ABLEST LIVING ARISTOCRAT.

Americans whose education is not yet complete may learn much by studying the ablest living aristocrat. They may learn surprising things by sufficient attention to Henry Charles Keith Petty-Fitzmaurice, fifth Marquis of Lansdowne, twenty-sixth Baron of Kerry and Lixnaw, Earl and Viscount, Knight of the Garter and Doctor of the Civil Law.

"What can you do?" Diogenes was asked when he was offered for sale on the auction block. "I can rule men," he answered. That is the profession of the Marquis of Lansdowne. He makes no secret of it. He is a descendant of "Strongbow," Earl of Pembroke. He holds 143,000 acres of land by feudal title. He is every ounce an aristocrat and every inch a gentleman. He has been Governor-General of India and of Canada. He could validate the death warrants of 50 Hindoo home-rulers without the least discourtesy. He prefers to rule men like a gentleman. That is his own way, if he can have it. If not, he is ready to rule them in Strongbow's way.

Just at present he is trying to have his own gentlemanly way. In many parts of this country we are studying the "referendum" as the last resort of democracy. In England, on the issue between lords and commons, with democracy in the commons asserting its right to rule, Henry Charles Keith Petty-Fitzmaurice was never more gentlemanly or more full of the repose of his hereditary profession as a ruler of men. He offers the referendum to the Commons as the most important part of his ultimatum when they claim that they were elected as representatives of men who know how to rule. "Well, then," he might say, "if it is only on that point we differ in this case or any case, let us use the Rule of Reason in every case. Before you deprive the people of our long experience as their professional rulers in any case, refer the point to them and secure their permission to overrule us."

[illegible] this, but [illegible] in his [illegible] he claims the right of appeal to the people. He is a liberal education in himself. Watch him closest when his purr is softest.

No waterways and conservation legislation resulted from the special session called by Gov. Deneen. Important as that was, it sank into second place before the greater question—whether the Illinois Legislature is a deliberative assemblage or a mob, whether laws are to be the product of tyranny, trickery and bludgeon methods or of honest discussion and intelligent effort. The people of Illinois have this new question before them for an answer.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mount St. Rose.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Mount St. Rose has become a familiar word to every St. Louisan. No other institution can excel its history for doing good during the last decade; no other can do its work. The consumptive, whether he be poor or rich, is excluded from other hospitals, and too often from the hotel, the boarding house and the sanitarium.

Mount St. Rose cares for such, removes from his family a source of danger and gives him every opportunity for restoration. Unlike some other institutions which admit only incipient cases, it takes cases in all stages and so far as their means permit, the Sisters hold an open door to the worthy poor.

I have no hesitation in saying, after an experience of seven years in the medical charge, that for pure, unadulterated good and helpfulness not only to the patient, but to his family, Mount St. Rose stands easily first among the great institutions of our city.

The Sisters need more room and a chapel. They have worked hard and patiently for this addition. It is a good investment, with security. They should have assistance. WILLIAM PORTER, M. D.

Good Enough English.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see in your columns that a few writers are criticising the good English of the slogan selected from so many others. These critics don't know good English when they see it. What do our factories manufacture? Goods! Do they not? What do our wholesale establishments handle? The same "goods!" Could any of them that are so ready with their criticisms give a word from the English, or I might say, American language, that would convey a more thorough meaning for this case? SAPPHO.

"St. Louis Is in the Swim!"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I judge by the protests against the slogan in today's issue that many were disappointed. You lost, boys, if for no other reason, because the judges said so; or because you were not wise, or perhaps you adhered too closely to the rules, or that you had in mind a real slogan. Had you been wise enough to have written a phrase like this your chance no doubt would have been better: "Some Cities Have a Slogan, but St. Louis Can Cut the Mustard." This constitutes 11 words, a little variation from the rules, which does not seem to have mattered much. Your chance might have been better had you said: "Some Cities Are Dry, but St. Louis Is in the Swim." In this sentence you have the required 10 words and the slang; what more would you want?

Mr. Editor, if you will pardon me for this bit of sarcasm, I will never do it again.

S. J. COLMAN.

The Loan Art Collection.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Being a lover of art, I thought I would take a stroll out to Art Hill last Sunday and take a look at the pictures, having read in the Sunday Post-Dispatch that the picture collectors of the city had loaned the Museum some of their best works of art for a special summer exhibit, which would give the public an opportunity to see the gems that are owned by the wealthy people of this city.

This show is worth going miles to see if the pictures had been properly hung. The hanging is as bad as it could possibly be. The space is too small and the arrangement is not good. The Post-Dispatch deserves credit for the active part it took in getting together these great works of art, but it seems a shame to have one's efforts to please the public frustrated in the manner in which this has been done. R. L. M.

The Jobless Man.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

Referring to "A Visitor's Kick," it is good for people (and cities) to be told the truth sometimes, even if it hurts. What is the matter with St. Louis? Many of us who seek work ask ourselves that. There are capable men, in the prime of life, that get almost insulted if they ask for employment, and are spoken to as if it was a crime not to be in a salaried job. Why do those who have work show such little sympathy for those willing to do either what they are qualified to do or try the next best to earn an honest living? Many men with money could give a great deal of employment to the scores of men who are now unwillingly idle if they would. I answered one advertisement recently and the hall was packed with nicely dressed young men from 18 to 25 (about fifty of them) for one job. E. W.

Music at the Parks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to know if the park commissioners, who have charge of the park music, specify any particular kind of music? I ask this question for the reason that of late nearly the same programs are given in the different parks by the same bandmaster, and this music generally consists almost wholly of Italian music, with some mediocre semi-classical music by other Latin composers and popular music by any old kind of composers interspersed. Too much of one thing is enough, and I would like to ask if it is not possible to play music by composers other than those of Latin countries? If a band director cannot play the music of all nations, it is time to try to get someone who can. Give us variety, and please make an effort not to have the same programs repeated at all parks, as there are some people who enjoy going to several band concerts a week.

Why are all those women trying to oppose the nine-hour a day law? They have their Sundays and evenings. A WOMAN PROBLEM.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

In England and Wales, there are now, according to the census taken in April last, 1,178,317 more females, the ratio being 1068 to 1000, in a total population of 36,075,269.

Causes aside, it is certain that the million or more excess of females over males in England and Wales has very interesting and important effects upon society, business and politics. These women make the modern woman problem. They enter the professions and trades and compete with men. Many of them get radical views on the marriage question, and provide a market for the books and plays of George Bernard Shaw. They are, as a mass, forcing the question of equal suffrage into party politics. The more militant decline to emigrate to Rhodesia or Saskatchewan. The conservative, old-fashioned ruling class in society and politics is almost witless trying to find out what to do with them. Bishops pray for them, politicians damn them. What England will be 50 years from now, if the million becomes twice or thrice its present number, offers an interesting field for speculation.

IS THERE ANYTHING TO BUY?

From the Boston Post.

It strikes us that bill now before the subcommittee on postoffices and postroads providing for condemning and purchasing the express companies and adding them to the postal system, and establishing a complete system for the quick transportation of packages and the eatable products of the farm and truck gardener, etc., is about the queerest and most useless scheme yet proposed in connection with the parcels post.

What have the express companies to sell that the Government could possibly need, save perhaps their horses and wagons? All else that they enjoy are privileges that Uncle Sam could assume for himself without any purchase price. The nation is under no necessity of buying up the express monopolies; it can compete with them with entire success, once given the chance.

HELP YOURSELF.

One thousand persons wrote to Jack London when he started across the Pacific in a 50-foot boat asking him to take them along.

One of these supplicants wrote, "I can assure you that I am eminently respectable, but find other respectable people tiresome."

That letter, London says, saved him many otherwise empty days. When there wasn't anything else to think about he could always occupy himself with wondering what the fellow meant.

If you want a mental stop-gap of that sort you can easily get it out of Mr. Cummins' reciprocity speech in the United States Senate. It would take a modern Oedipus to make out what the Senator meant in spots.

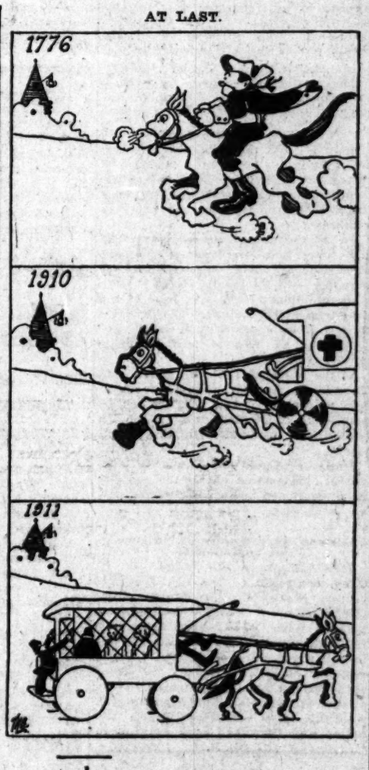

At any rate, Peoria, Ill., is not in a position to find fault with the slang in our slogan. Peoria's slogan is "Let's Go, Peoria!"

Probably there is some extenuation for the Mormons in the plea that it took a lot of sugar one way and another.

George Mockler has just returned from an investigation of what coal is costing some of the other cities. He brought this story from Baltimore:

An Irishman there inherited a coal mine up in the State. He immediately entered the lists for one of the big coal contracts, and went around to say a good word for his coal.

The man who was letting the contract heard him a moment, and then interrupted with:

"That's all right, but how about British thermal units?"

The other, being new to the coal business, did not know that coal is rated now according to the British thermal units it tests.

"What's that?" he said.

"How many British thermal units are there in your coal?"

The Irishman blinked his eye and snorted a bit.

"British thermal units is it?" he said. "Why there ain't a dam wan in it."

EAT, DRINK— BUT BE HEAL...

Eminent Physicians Will Advise Post-Dispatch ... Summer Diet.

The Post-Dispatch has secured a number of eminent ... discuss this important problem of the stomach. The following ... and suggestions are contributed.

NO. 3—By Dr. S. L. HILL.

EAT sparingly. This is the best advice that can be offered for the good of the stomach.

This is the period of extremes in faddism in dietetics. A particular science of dietetics loses in its practicability for people generally by virtue of the fact that teachers of it are usually exponents of fads. There are faddists in the practice of medicine, faddists who are semi-scientific persons, some of whom have arrived at their ideas from their own experience, others who arrive at theories in arm chairs.

The reason why any food cult is wrong in promulgating its theory is that people differ in their needs. Primarily, man is both herbivorous and carnivorous, with the ability to sustain himself along either of these lines. The Eskimo finds health and strength by living on meat alone, while the little Japanese is quite as doughty taking no meat. Here, however, these simple conditions do not exist.

The American stomach is being attacked by the lure of the cuisine. This is especially true of America, which has more fine restaurants than any other nation in the world. The hors-d'oeuvre, a highly indigestible morsel, is set out to cultivate an appetite, and before that, perhaps, comes the cocktail, the worst form of alcohol taken at the worst time. Taken on an empty stomach the cocktail immediately exerts its influence on the liver. One cocktail is more harmful than three highballs, diluted, as they are, with water.

THE form of indigestion most common here is that indicated by the dilated stomach. The cause is easy to find: A man may take a light breakfast, a sandwich and glass of milk for lunch, and then say "I have only one good meal a day," meaning dinner. This is often the cause of the whole trouble. The capacity of the stomach is limited, and so the stomach is necessarily dilated to accommodate the food comprised in this "one good meal." Haste keeps a man from having ... at other times; the stomach is ... by the midday lunch, and ... loaded at dinner.

When the rounded figure once more becomes the fashion—in other words, when hips are worn ... she will find herself out of it, for she has ruined her digestion and cannot get back to her old form.

By avoiding the course ... eating a plain and fairly ... meal, the average woman can attain good, natural figure. If she can't, she should wait for the fashion to change.

American people generally eat too much, especially when they go to supper after the theater. A man may want only a sandwich and a glass of beer, but he doesn't dare to give so simple an order at an expensive ... The result is that his stomach suffers for the sake of appearances. He should be careful at all times to eat sparingly.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed conterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Central Drug Co., of Detroit, Mich., says: "We consider your Castoria in a class distinct from patent medicines and commend it."

Christy Drug Stores, of Pittsburg, Pa., say: "We have sold your Castoria for so many years with such satisfactory results that we cannot refrain from saying a good word for it when we get a chance."

Jacob Bros., of Philadelphia, Pa., say: "We take pleasure in recommending Fletcher's Castoria as one of the oldest and best of the preparations of the kind upon the market."

Hess & McCann, of Kansas City, Mo., say: "Your Castoria always gives satisfaction. We have no substitute for it and only sell 'The Kind You Have Always Bought,' the original."

The Voegeli Bros., of Minneapolis, Minn., say: "We wish to say that we have at all times a large demand for Fletcher's Castoria at all of our three stores and that it gives universal satisfaction to our trade."

Polk Miller Drug Co., of Richmond, Va., says: "Your Castoria is one of the most satisfactory preparations we have ever handled. It ... satisfy completely the public demand for such an article and is ... creating a growing sale by its merit."

P. A. Capdau, of New Orleans, La., says: "We handle every good ... remedy demanded by the public and while our shelves are thoroughly equipped with the best of drugs and proprietary articles, there are ... if any which have the unceasing sale that your Castoria has."

M. C. Dow, of Cincinnati, Ohio, says: "When people in increasing ... bers purchase a remedy and continue buying it for years; when it passes the fad or experimental stage and becomes a household necessity, ... it can be said its worth has been firmly established. We can and ... gladly offer this kind of commendation to Fletcher's Castoria."

O'Flynn stared at him. "What are the three B's?" he asked.

"Your honor must be strange in Dublin," Master Bandy went on deferentially, "not to have heard of the three B's. The three B's are the three greatest beauties in all Dublin, or in all the world, it may be for that matter, and they are called the three B's because the Christian name of each of them begins with that letter. They are the Lady Belinda Fanshaw, the Lady Barbara Jarmyn, and the Lady Benedetta Mountmichael."

As the words came from Bandy's lips Flynn gave a cry of joy so loud in its exultation that the astonished landlord fell back in alarm and eyed his eccentric guest warily as if fearful for his reason. Flynn advanced upon Bandy with gleaming eyes, and Bandy retreated before him with a great air of apprehension. "Stop, man, stop," Flynn cried. "Do you mean to say that the Lady Benedetta Mountmichael is under your roof at this blessed and holy minute?"

Bandy was something reassured as to his guest's sanity by this question, though it puzzled him not a little to imagine any degree of acquaintanceship existing between the Lady Benedetta Mountmichael, the beauty toast the adored of the gallants, and this astonishing ragamuffin that was so shabbily clad and yet made so free with golden guineas. "Yes, indeed," he asserted.

The O'Flynn lifted up his hands in an ecstacy. "Then this is not a tavern, this is paradise. I shall see her at once!"

CHAPTER XVI.

Benedetta Descends the Stairs.

FLYNN pushed Beggies away from him, and the poor man, with a gesture of despair, quitted the hall.

The Lady Benedetta was standing on the gallery looking down and smiling.

Flynn advanced and saluted her.

Benedetta leaned over. "It is you then, O'Flynn. I guessed it must be when I got your mad message."

"Never call it mad," Flynn protested, "when it gave me the sweet sight of you like this."

The girl laughed at his rhapsodies. "What are you doing here?" she asked.

He made her a bow. "Doing your pleasure, lady," he answered.

"Have you come to serve the King?" she questioned eagerly.

And he answered her instantly, "I have come to serve the Queen."

Benedetta shook her head. "The Queen is in France!"

"The Queen I mean is in Ireland," Flynn asserted. "The Queen I mean is the girl for whose sake I have come to Dublin—the Queen I mean is at the top of those stairs, and I wish she would come down them."

"Oh, I cannot come down," Benedetta declared. "I must not stop away a minute—the company will miss me."

"If you are the girl I take you for," Flynn said persuasively, "it's mighty little you care for the company. Come down, angel, while I tell you what brings me to Dublin!"

Benedetta seemed firm. "You are an imperious pleader, but I must deny you."

The O'Flynn was ever a man to take "no" for an answer in the Courts of Love. "Don't do that same," he entreated. "Don't do it! Sure, you were never made to refuse a kindness to a very deserving soldier of fortune. Now, listen to me. If you will come down here to me for a minute, I will rhyme you a rhyme for each step of the stair that brings you nearer to me."

Benedetta looked at him with an amused smile that was not without a certain malicious perverseness. "Will you so?" she asked, pasingly.

And the O'Flynn ... ered her with a cheerful alacrity. "... ill so. I am a ... of a poet as ... you the other ... the goddess of song, "Oh, my vagabond Muse, befriend me."

Then, with his eyes fixed on the enchanting creature above him, he began to improvise, words coming trip-toe to his call as was their wont when he needed them:

"Most dainty, most gracious, most radiant, most fair,
I will rhyme you a rhyme for each step of the stair."

As he paused to take breath after this auspicious beginning, Benedetta advanced a small high-heeled shoe from where she stood to the stair immediately below her, and stood poised there with a tantalizing smile upon her face as if she were defying her mad Irishman to keep to the terms of his fantastic contract. But the O'Flynn was not to be daunted. He felt the spirit of song swelling within his breast, and he rattled out another brace of rhymes with a rapidity which surprised Benedetta and himself:

"For each fall of your foot that draws nearer the place
Where I wait and I worship the light of your face."

Benedetta came down a pair of steps this time. She was tickled by his whimsical proposition and was ready to give him good measure of encouragement.

Flynn, with his eyes fixed eagerly on his nearing divinity, essayed a third couplet:

"Are you woman or angel? Whichever
you be,
Entertain the kind thought and draw
nearer to me."

The appeal was promptly answered by a further approach of the fair lady, but for a moment Flynn's inspiration seemed to halt and Benedetta made a feint to retire.

Thus spurred, Flynn found new words for his purpose:

"Sure the King has his ribbons, the King has his stars,
To give to the faithful that serve in his wars."

Benedetta came graciously down some three steps in response to this strophe, and Flynn pursued the thought in a further verse:

"But I'd change all the gifts that the King can command,
For one smile of your eyes, for one touch of your hand."

Lured by Flynn's fluent muse, Benedetta continued to descend the stairway. She was more than half-way down now and Flynn's fancy was still fertile.

He drew breath and spoke again:

"And there's never a deed that a hero
would do,
But myself would achieve it in honor of you."

Benedetta seemed to think that her poet's powers were flagging, for she only accorded him the favor of a single stair's descent in return for this verse.

Flynn noted the change and his voice grew stronger, his manner more animated as he rolled out two new lines which he strove to charge with all the vehemence of his passion:

"I swear me your soldier, your servant,
your slave,
To the height of my hope, to the depth of my grave."

Benedetta was taken by the fervor of his words, of his speech, and she glided down several of the steps as a proof of her approval. There were now only three steps between her and the floor of the hall.

Flynn's face glowed and he went to it again rapturously:

"So long as the blackbirds that dwell in my breast
Can sing of the wonderful world you have blest."

Benedetta came down two more steps, leaving but one to be overtrodden, but now Flynn paused, seemed to hesitate, to have lost command of words and ideas. Instantly Benedetta, roguish and tricksy, gave a little turn and made as if to scamper up the stairs again at full speed.

Now, whether Flynn's hesitation had been natural or no more than the plausible artifice of the artist, he certainly recovered his wits quickly before this menace of Benedetta's. With renewed vigor he shouted aloud the continuation of the thought of the just finished verse:

"My song shall be yours, like my life and my prayers"—

He waited for an instant playfully, pretending to be troubled, though he knew very well what was coming; then he delivered his line in a rush:

"And behold you have come to the foot of the stairs."

Even as he said the last word Benedetta, smiling very sweetly at the winner of the wager, stepped daintily on the floor of the hall.

Flynn sprang forward to greet her, and, dropping on his knee, took her hand tenderly in his and kissed it reverently. "Lady," he said jubilantly, as he rose to his feet, "the last time we met I promised that Dublin should know me soon. You did not believe me then, yet here I am in Dublin, kissing your dear hand. You have given King James another soldier, for behold me eager to serve him." He paused for an instant, and then concluded emphatically, "Ah, I will please you against your will."

Benedetta looked at him with very kindly eyes. "Indeed, O'Flynn," she declared, "you have pleased me, and greatly."

O'Flynn gave a little gasp of delight. He twirled a pirouette, fluttering his sky-blue skirts as he swung on his heels, then he faced the girl again, and pranced, as it were, before her in the pride of his brand-new apparel. "What do you think of these clothes?" he asked with kind of boyish simplicity of pleasure in the sporting of unfamiliar finery that diverted Benedetta, but that also touched her.

She was used to splendid gentlemen splendidly garmented, but she seemed to understand the delight of this rough-and-ready soldier of fortune in his bright habiliments. "They are beautiful," she averred, sincerely enough, for if the coat that O'Flynn had chosen was a trifle gaudier than the precision of the mode would wholly justify, his stalwart person and manly carriage carried it off properly enough and minimized its brilliancy.

"Lady," he declared, "I lay them at your feet"— He checked himself abruptly as if recognizing the incongruity of the remark, and added hurriedly, "metaphorically, of course."

He was silent for a whole second that seemed to him an eternity; then he cried out in an ecstasy of delight, "Ah, Benedetta, I could fly out of my skin for joy of seeing you again, I love you so that nothing can withstand my love. I have had a revelation from heaven which tells me that the earth itself was created that I might meet you. I am the most important man upon the earth because I love you." He was prepared to go on in this train so long as his breath lasted, but Benedetta lifted a finger and checked him.

"You are very gallant, Flynn," she said, gayly, "but I like your way of talk. It makes me think of the fountains of Versailles on a fine day, all the little drops of water dancing in the sunlight. I suppose you could go on like that forever?"

The O'Flynn laughed. "What good for a man to be a bit of a poet if he couldn't find words for his heart if his heart is happy?"

Benedetta smoothed out the dimples of her smiling face to an expression of great gravity. "Well, Chevalier," she said, with an air of mock earnestness that became her vastly, "it's well I don't take you too seriously, or your heart wouldn't be so happy as you say. I told you I was ear-deep in love with a man, and now the man is ear-deep in love with me, happy wretch that I am; and we are to be married whenever I can get my father's consent."

"And mine," O'Flynn commented dryly.

Benedetta went on unheeding him, thrilled by her theme. "He is the handsomest creature in the world, and the gallantest; the face of an angel, the figure of a god, the carriage of a hero, perfect courtier, perfect soldier, perfect lover! Nay, I must tell you no more."

If Flynn were at all dashed by the girl's praises of her to him unknown lover, he showed no sign of his discomfiture in face or bearing. "What is the name of this Nonpareil?" he asked jauntily.

Benedetta denied him a straight answer. "That I must not tell you," she said, "for we have not yet got my father's consent. But you shall know in good time."

Flynn shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, there's no hurry," he declared, truthfully enough. He felt there was more he wanted to say, but while he was seeking how to say it the quiet of the place was disturbed by a distant sound of applause that came to them by way of the gallery and the stairs, through the closed doors of the viceroy's room.

Benedetta started at the sound. "Hark!" she cried, "I hear them clapping their hands. I must go. Likely the play is beginning. Farewell!"

She made to go, but Flynn clawed at the air and delayed her. "Wait a bit, lady," he said, "don't think I'm dashed by this news of yours. I don't care a damn for your Apollo. I'm your wooer still and mean to be your winner sooner or later."

Benedetta looked at him with a little quizzical grin. "Ah, you fantastical madman," she cried, and then swinging round on her high heels, she ran swiftly up the stairs, paused for a moment on the gallery to wave him a salute that was half derisive and half kindly, and so disappeared behind the panels that masked the viceroy's pleasures.

A Treatment for Sick Headache

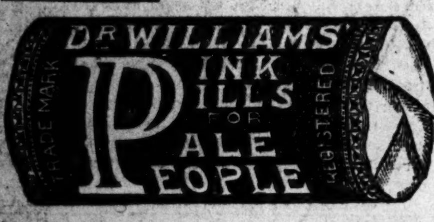

Few diseases which do not threaten the life of the patient cause more suffering, more unhappiness in the family, more disturbance to the home life, than sick headache. The disorder is therefore worthy of the most careful study and attention. Many cases can be cured. Some may be incurable but these can be alleviated and the attacks made less frequent, an improvement well worth the effort.

Anything which tends to lower the "tone" of the body operates to bring on an attack and when the system is "toned up" the attacks become less frequent or disappear altogether. Thus indiscretions of diet will produce an attack as will a sudden shock, grief or other mental disturbance. After a vacation spent in the open air, or when the general health is especially good, there is freedom from attack. These facts led to the so-called tonic treatment for sick headache and for years Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have been used with good results in numberless cases.

Mr. J. H. Crowley, a painter and decorator, of Charleston, Mo., says: "I had sick headaches, which made me feel sick all over. My stomach was sour for days after these headaches and I would have a great deal of pain through it. I felt as though my stomach was on fire and there was a weight in it. I was troubled some with gas and was constipated all the time. The doctor treated me but gave me only temporary relief. I became discouraged with his treatment and began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My improvement was noticeable in a few days. I was soon relieved of the sourness on my stomach and had no more of the attacks. I continued using the pills until cured."

GOLF COMMITTEE TO VISIT PUBLIC LINKS ELSEWHERE

Will Report on Utility of Courses Already Established in Other Cities.

SEEK FOREST PARK SITE

Members Will Look Over Territory Available for Greens During Next Few Days.

Four members of the Advisory Golf Committee which has been appointed by Park Commissioner Davis to decide whether St. Louis shall have a public golf course, will visit cities where such links are in operation to observe how many people and what sort of people resort to them.

This information, if it shows that persons of small means are given an opportunity by the establishment of public links to play golf, will answer the objection that municipal courses benefit only the wealthier classes and that golf is a "rich man's game."

Arthur Stickney, representing the St. Louis Country Club on the Advisory Committee, will visit New York, which has very large and very popular free courses. Samuel Rosenfeld will inspect the public links in Chicago. Bart Adams will report concerning Kansas City's recently established links, and Clark McAdams will go to Boston for the same purpose.

Will Report to Committee.

On their return to St. Louis these four members will submit to the full committee the results of their investigations, which are expected to demonstrate that free golf links have proved a means of healthful exercise and amusement for thousands of persons who are unable to pay membership fees in clubs.

The four members who are to make inquiries in other cities met in the assembly room of the Board of Public Improvements Thursday to organize the Advisory Committee and determine the kind and amount of work it will perform in connection with the establishment of a public course in St. Louis. Park Commissioner Davis was chosen chairman and Samuel Rosenfeld secretary of the committee.

The task of the committee, it was agreed, was to decide whether a public links in St. Louis is desirable; whether if desirable, it is feasible, and whether the present is the propitious time to establish it.

Will S— Available Tract.

The committee was unanimous in the belief that a course in one of the parks will be a beneficial thing. To ascertain just what sites are available members of the committee will walk through Forest Park in quest of adaptable tracts.

Whether there is money for the purpose of laying out and maintaining a course will be left with the Municipal Assembly, but if there is not an immediate appropriation the committee will have prepared plans and gathered data which may be used in the future.

Another meeting of the committee w... be held in Park Commissioner Davis' office July 14.

SOMEONE SHOULD KIDNAP WAGNER FOR BRESNAHAN

Then the Cardinals Might Have a Chance to Defeat the Pesky Pirates.

HE DOES MOST DAMAGE

Without the "Flying Dutchman" Pittsburg Crew Would Not Fare So Well.

IF the Pirates could play the Cardinals and Cubs all season they would win the National League pennant in a walk. The Smoketown crew exercises some unknown power over these teams and it's no trick at all for them to win over the St. Louis and Chicago aggregations.

However, it seems that the ground that the Pirates make up at the expense of the Cardinals and Cubs is lost when they meet the Giants and Quakers. They cannot beat the Eastern outfits. So there is some consolation for Cardinal fans in knowing that.

It seems that the only possible chance the Cardinals have of winning from the Pirates is to get Hans Wagner out of the game. He always does the most damage of any of the Pittsburg players here. While Clarke, Leach and Byrne usually put in good licks against the Cardinals, it is usually Wagner who helps most to crimp the Men of Bresnahan.

Wagner Is a Mighty Aid.

Wagner is to the Pirates what Bresnahan is to the Cardinals. Without him there would probably be little to the Pittsburg team. His war club has kept the Pirates in the race for years. Leave him out of the lineup and the club wouldn't be nearly so important a factor in the race.

Barring an additional pitcher or two, it is just such a player as Wagner that the Cardinals need to make the League Park team one of the best in the League. Given a slashing, murdering hitter like the "Flying Dutchman" the Bresnahan clan would gallop along at a great clip.

The Pirates are not out of the pennant race by any means. They are but a short distance removed from the lead and the season still has a good way to go. While Wagner, Clarke & Co. seem able to make enough runs for the average pitcher to win, it is in the slab department that the Pirates are weak.

Leach Is a Fixture.

Just now the Pirates are showing minus Tommy Leach, the veteran outfielder. With Leach playing between Clarke and Wilson, the Pittsburg trio is considered one of the best fly-chasing aggregations in the League. Recently reports have been spread that Leach was "in bad" with the Pittsburg management and was slated for transfer.

According to Secretary Will Locke of the Pirates, Leach was originally kept out of the lineup because of a species of "Charley horse." He went to a massage artist, who is said to have made the ailment worse and instead of being out only a few days, he was told to rest a couple of weeks.

Combined with this ailment was the illness and death of Mrs. Leach. That accounted for Leach's recent poor showing and was the reason the fans got after the little fellow. However, he is soon slated to rejoin the Pirates and will again be seen in center field.

CHANCE DETERMINED TO BOLSTER CUBS

CHICAGO, June 30.—Manager Chance of the Cubs is determined to stop the losing streak of his team and to this end will resume his duties at first base when the Cubs and Reds meet today in the second game of the local series.

"I don't know how long I will be able to stand the pace, owing to my headache and the nervous affection which recently seized upon my foot, but I'm going to try to stop our losing streak," said the manager. "I also propose to see that my pitchers get into form so they can go the whole route. This thing of blowing up in the sixth and seventh innings will have to stop."

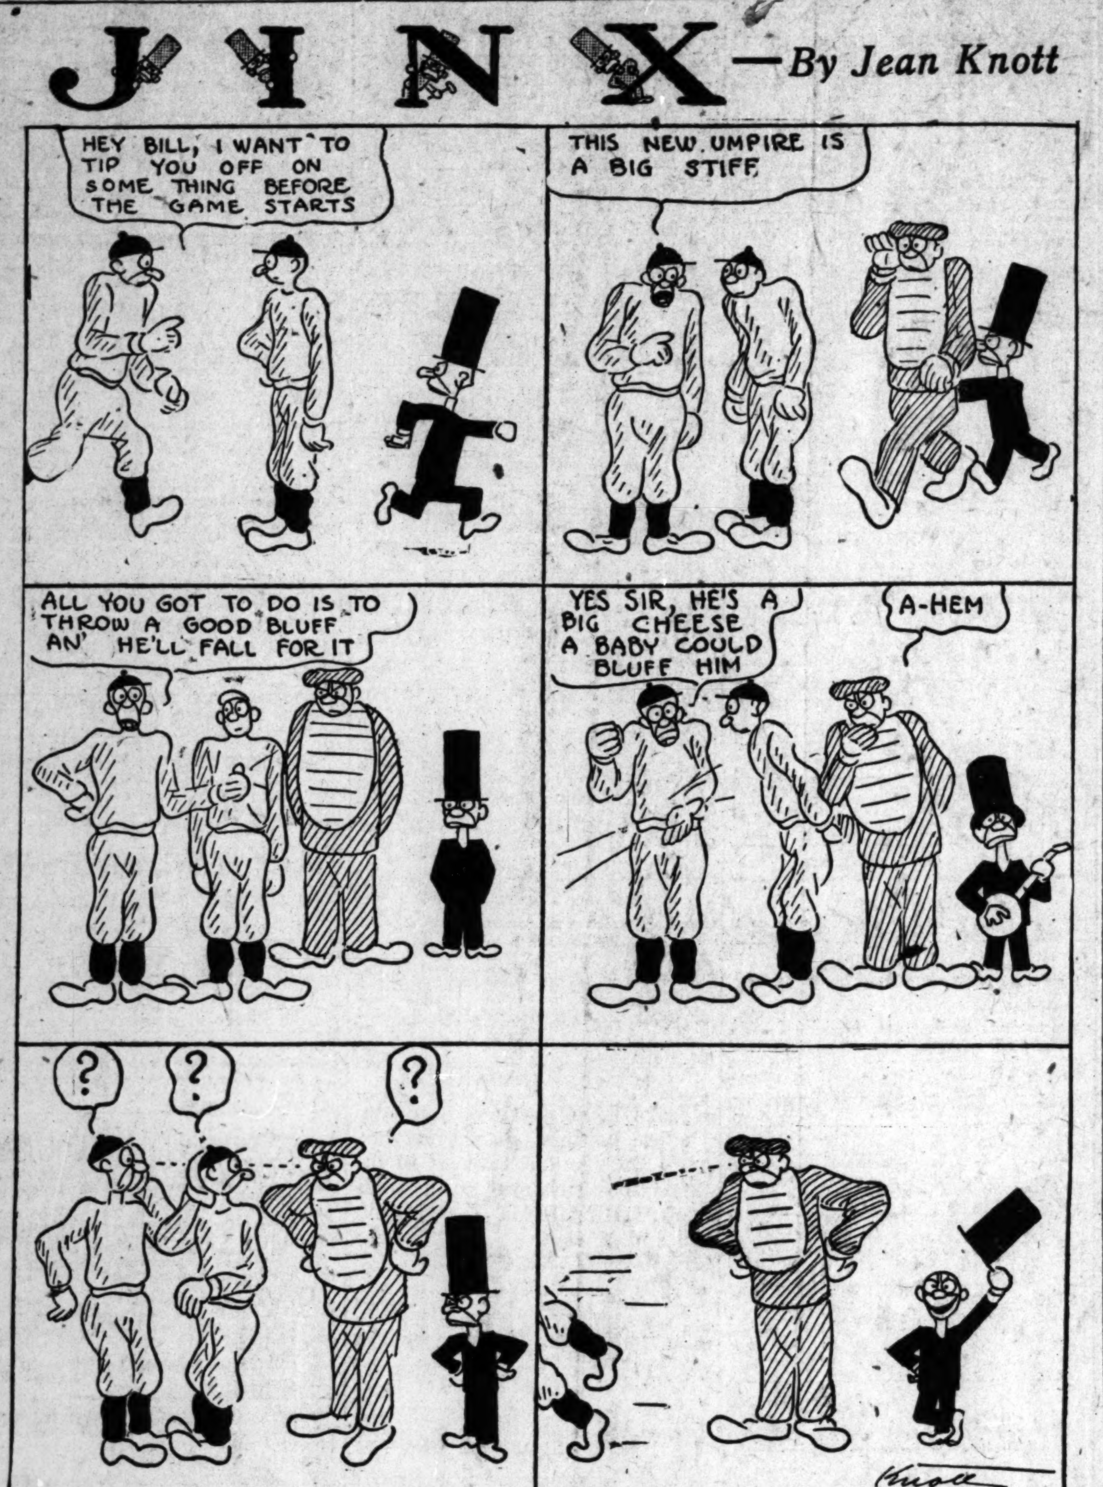

WHEELER IS WINNER OF GLEN ECHO PLAY

H. S. Wheeler defeated C. W. Mansur in the final of the 1910 class B golf championship of the Glen Echo Country Club on the Glen Echo links, Thursday, 1 up in 20 holes. The match was to have been played last October, but the contestants were unable to get together until Thursday. It was a close match all the way, Mr. Wheeler winning after two extra holes had been played. A handsome cup was presented to the winner.

[ST]EELE WILL TRY TO CRIMP PIRATES

Manager Bresnahan of the Cardinals [sa]id Friday that he would send Bill [St]eele to the hill in the second game of [th]e series with the Pirates of Pittsburg [at] League Park Friday afternoon. How[ard] Camnitz will probably oppose the [Le]ague Park crew.

[M]ike Mowrey's twisted knee is mended [and] the Baltimore boy will probably re[sume] his position at thi[rd base] Friday.

BROWNS' LATEST FIRST SACKER IS LIVELY FIELDER

Duggan Makes Good Showing at Bat, Too, but Makes Tactical Blunder.

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—The Browns introduced their latest first-base man, Elmer Duggan of the New England League, in yesterday's ball game and although Elmer failed to break into the base hit column he showed commendable qualities and did connect with the ball on two occasions in a way that bespoke earnestness, zeal and a good eye. It was Elmer's misfortune to hit one drive straight at Bush and another squarely in the paws of O'Leary. However, Elmer played a rattling good first base, didn't hit at a bad ball all day, walked once, scored later and showed himself considerable of a hotfoot on the sacks.

Duggan is a sizeable chap, built very much on the order of Joe Lake. He throws left-handed and seems to have an excellent whip, like most left-handed throwers. He also hits from the first base side of the plate.

Weak in the Belfry?

Adverse critics of Mr. Duggan might point out that yesterday he was guilty of one tactical blunder, which arouses doubts of his thought factory's efficiency. This came in the eighth, when Davy Jones swung a bunt that started for Laporte's position. Duggan simply couldn't keep his hands off the ball, tearing over and taking it away from Laporte. This left the sack ungarded, while the bugs gave vent to loud accusations of ivory cupola.

Open Date Friday.

Today the Tigers and Brownies have an open date with nothing to do but attend the aviation events at the Fair Grounds. Tomorrow the teams resume their strife. Lively is the most likely Detroit selection, though Willet is also ready. Wallace will work either Lake or Hamilton.

OUTFIELDER MURRAY GOES TO BUFFALO

Jimmy Murray, one of the Browns' extra outfielders, departs Friday for the East to join the Buffalo (Eastern League) team. News of his release was exclusively told in Friday's Final Post-Dispatch. Murray came here from the St. Paul (American Association) team and was expected to become one of the Browns' regulars, as his record in the Association had been a good one. He hit in the spring, but fell down later.

Other former Brownies now with Ch[ick] Stallings in Buffalo are Frankie [Trues]dale and Bill Killefer. It seem[s the] Browns may receive th[e Buf]faloes in the fall.

:: WRAY'S COLUMN ::

WHAT, MYRON, SMOKING AGAIN!

THE Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, which actively campaigned to raise the fund of $50 contributed by Cincinnati fans toward the payment of Umpire Klem's fine, adds another to its crimes, when it prints:

"St. Louis fans are suspicious. Until the Cardinals win the pennant they will give them no credit. The "show me" rooters take no stock in spurts or winning streaks. They anticipate slumps which will send Bresnahan's boys tumbling down in the second division."

Well, even if the fans here give the Cardinals scant credit they hand them plenty of cash. Witness the gate receipts in the Cubs and Pirate series.

JUST A DAY-DREAM.

TALK of the possibility of altering the American League circuit reminds one that a geographical rearrangement of the big leagues could be effected to considerable advantage, from a transportation standpoint.

One logical assemblage of teams in two groups would bring together eight teams from the West against eight from the East, the winners in each organization to play an 11-game series for the world's title.

Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburg and Buffalo would be logical Eastern clubs, while Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Louisville, Kansas City and a combined St. Paul-Minneapolis team could eke out the Western circuit.

The arrangement would have the advantage of creating strong intersectional interest, as well as diminishing the transportation expenses. Its drawback is chiefly that it would mean the wiping out of the American Association and the crippling of the Eastern League.

YALE FRESHMEN WIN IN REGATTA CURTAIN RAISER

Harvard First-Year Eight Beaten Two Lengths in Morning Event.

CRIMSON WINS IN FOURS

Favorites in First Varsity Crew Contest Rowed to Form Against Eli.

NEW LONDON, June 30.—Yale scored first in the regatta races today, the Eli freshman eight finishing two lengths in front of the Harvard first year shell, in the opening morning event. The victory was expected, the Eli crew having shown best form in practice.

The official time for the race was 11m. 59s. After the early stages of the race, in which Harvard jumped into the lead, the Yale freshmen quickly pulled into close quarters with the crimson and ran away, at the end of the event. The race was slow, the record for the course being 9m. 33s., in this race.

Immediately after the race the fours lined up for their struggle, with the men as follows in the boats:

Harvard—J. G. Wiggins, bow; James Trumbull, No. 2; E. D. Morgan, No. 3; L. Waitt, stroke; A. T. Abeles, coxswain.

Yale—R. F. Ives, bow; D. C. Oldenborg Jr., No. 2; A. D. Adams, No. 3; W. F. Howe Jr., stroke; O. Barnum, coxswain.

The river had been rough, early in the morning, compelling a delay in the program. It quieted down after 11 o'clock. The conditions were still good when the fours were sent away from the post.

The race was a mere romp for Harvard, that crew finishing three full boat lengths to the good. The official time for the race was:

Harvard—15m. 37s.
Yale—15m. 52s.

The course for this event is two miles upstream and the record is 10m. 33s.

In the Harvard four-oared shell was Albert T. Abeles, twin brother of Charles. The two boys are duplicates in height and weight and can scarcely be distinguished.

On the coolness and the good judgment of 114 pounds of St. Louis bone and sinew may depend the fate of the Yale-Harvard four-oared shell race on the Thames River here this afternoon. The said 114 pounds belong to Charley Abeles, who as coxswain of the eight oared-shell of Harvard's rowing squad will be compelled to judge the pace, name the speed of the stroke and do all the headwork which good watermanship requires of victors in a Yale-Harvard regatta.

Abeles has been the coxswain of the crew for one year, and has served in the same capacity for the Mound City Rowing Club of St. Louis as well. It will therefore be through no lack of experience on his part if any mishap befalls the Crimson.

Abeles is a mere youth, being only 19 years of age. He is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 114 pounds.

New London was in its usual regatta day attire, with the tinge inclining slightly to crimson. The betting is 5 to 4 on Harvard for the varsity race.

Hard Race Expected.

That there will be a great race in the varsity is now the prediction of many experts. James Wray, the Harvard coach, himself says that the blue team will make a much better showing than the Yale crews of previous two years. But he expects to win, as he has the best eight turned out at Harvard since his tenure of office there.

RAMONA TRACK BAD FOR 220-YARD MEN

Because he is afraid that some of his best track and field stars might be injured if he allowed them to start in the events to be held under the auspices of the Columbus Club at Ramona Park, C. W. Bassett, athletic director of the M. A. C., did not enter any of the wearers of the Cherry Diamond.

Dr. Bassett declares that a man runs a very good chance of either breaking his neck or landing in a barbed-wire fence every time he runs the 220 at Ramona.

Bassett is training 10 men at the Triple A, in addition to a large squad of distance runners, all of whom he entered for the Columbus Club's 12-mile run.

Quite a number of the M. A. C. men have been entered for the Scottish Clans meet to be held at Normandie Grove Tuesday, as while the track at that place is only fair, it is much better than at Ramona, according to the athletic boss of the M. A. C.

IRISH SOCIETIES TO HOLD TRACK MEET

The United Irish Societies will hold an athletic meet at Normandie Grove Sunday. Twelve events have been scheduled. The St. Lawrence O'Toole and Visitation baseball teams will start the ball rolling with a regular nine-inning game, after which the following events will be run off: 100-yard handicap, open; 100-yard race for boys under 16 years of age; 50-yard race for boys under 12 years of age; throwing the stone, Irish style; 25-yard race for girls under 13 years of age; three-legged race, open; running high jump, open, handicap; hop, step and jump; 50-yard race for young ladies; 100-yard race for members only; obstacle race, open. Joe Lydon will act as referee and Ambrose Lavin as starter.

FINALISTS TO MEET IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 30.—Two of the golfers who have been strong favorites during the past three days' play, Tom McNamara of Boston and Robert Simpson of Kenosha, Wis., meet today in the final 36-hole round of the Western Golf Association's annual open championship tournament.

St. Louis Boy, Harvard Coxswain, Tells Why Crimson Should Win

BY CHARLES ABELES,

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.

WE are waiting, a little nervous, but anxious this morning to get at the Elis. To make any definite prophesy would, of course, be foolish. We know that the race will be a hard one. My opinion is that it will be fought in the first two miles, and either crew having a substantial lead at that point will be the winner. From the very slight observation that I have had of the Yale crew they seem to row much more smoothly at a low than at a high stroke, while we go best at about thirty-four. This is liable to be a factor in our favor. We think we will win, but at the same time appreciate the fact that we are up against a much harder proposition than the public realizes.

CHARLES ABELES.

Yale has a good crew, better than last year's, and we shan't let their two defeats at the hands of Pennsylvania and Princeton lead us into overconfidence.

Base Hits and Breaks Let Pirates Put Crimp in Our Climbing Hopes

THE Pirates of Pittsburg outslugged the Cardinals in the opening number of their all-important series at League Park Thursday, but at that Dame Fortune smiled on the visiting crew. In other words, they got the breaks. The score was 8 to 6 in favor of Wagner, Clarke & Co.

In the first place, Umpire Mal Eason called Hank Carey safe at second in the opening round when that individual looked out by a yard. The decision cost a run. Then a high wind robbed Steve Evans of a certain home run in the ninth round. The hit, had it gone out as intended, would have tied up the score. However, it just wasn't in the cards for the Cardinals to win.

Roy Golden was Manager Bresnahan's original twirler. Although the Cardinals got Roy off in front, he showed his same old weakness, and after passing the first two batters in the fifth, was derricked.

It was a ticklish place for Jakie Geyer to be dropped, and before he managed to shoot down three, four runs had been shoved over the plate. The Cardinals fought gamely. They chased Babe Adams from the hill and managed to tie up the count at 6-6, with Elmer Steele on the hill.

Then Fred Clarke made another change in pitchers. He yanked Steele and used Youngster Ferry in the last two rounds. Ferry proved the right man in the right place.

The real reason that the Cardinals lost was because Evans, Smith, Oakes and Bresnahan were unable to hit the Pirate pitchers. Oakes, who has been doing some excellent hitting in the pinches recently, had three opportunities to put the game on ice. But the "Rebel" just couldn't shoot one safe.

The Pirates were again favored when Manager Clarke made a great try for Koney's fierce wallop in the second. The bases were loaded at the time and Big Ed's rap cleaned up, but the drive netted the Bohemian only two bases. That's because the ball, after Clarke tried for the catch, dropped dead at his feet instead of rolling to the fence for a home run.

It was one of the hardest hit drives of the season and Koney certainly deserved more than a double. But that's the kind of luck the Pirates figure in while playing here.

For the other fellows of course, John Peter Wagner was the star. He was well supported by Fred Clarke. Dots Miller, Robert Byrne and Mike Simon also lent aid.

Wagner poled two doubles and a single. They counted three runs while Hans crossed twice himself. Clarke also got a pair of two-baggers, the last one putting the Pirates on the sunny side of Easy street.

Another excellent week day crowd turned out for the matinee. It was a noisy gathering in the seventh when the Cardinals were tying up the score, but it seemed as if the bunch quit cold after the Pirates took the lead in the eighth. The fans evidently had a premonition that old Jinx was working again.

IS IT TRUE? YES.
The town is full of men who will trade 10 years' rent receipts for the worst property in the city, but a ton of rent receipts won't buy the worst house in town. No, sir; not from me or from anyone else. They are only worth 10 cents a ton, but I can sell you one of five brand-new modern frame houses on a 30-foot lot, 3 minutes' walk from Cherokee car and 30 minutes' ride to 9th and Pine; close to proposed boulevard and small park.
NO CASH REQUIRED.
Only monthly payments, and they less than rent. If you would prefer to take up notes and finally own your home rather than to be forever buying rent receipts, come and see me.

BURNED AT STAKE BY MEXICAN BANDITS

Letter From New Mexico Tells of Death of Canadian Custodian of Large Sum.

SHAWNEE, Ok., June 30.—Robert Swazey, a Canadian, was burned at the stake by Mexican bandits near Fort Sumner, New Mexico, on June 15, according to a letter received here today from Mrs. Emma Bingman, formerly of this city, and mother-in-law of the dead man.

The man was killed because he refused to reveal the hiding place of a large amount of money that had been left in his care by a Mexican railroad which employed him, the letter said.

Mrs. Bingman has notified the British Government of the case.

PAROLED CONVICT SHOOTS FOUR MEN; POSSE IS PURSUING

Quarrel About a Girl Leads to Clash and Fugitive Is Being Surrounded.

HAS SHOTGUN AND PISTOL

Sends Word to Sheriff He Will Kill Young Woman Before He Is Taken.

LOUISVILLE, Ill., June 30.—James Geer, a paroled convict who last night shot four men, is being pursued by a posse today. Geer wounded Deputy Sheriff J. W. Gogswell, J. M. Tanner, his employer, Rex McCollum and Dr. Arthur Steely.

A few days ago Geer, who was working for Tanner, wrote a letter to Miss Florence Scott, a telephone operator here, asking for a time and place to see her, and signed a young hardware man's name to it. She became suspicious and notified the manager, Arthur Mayden, and he asked Geer not to annoy the girl, or he would report him. This made the convict angry, and he cursed Mayden, and on leaving him said he was going to get Tanner's gun and shoot him.

Fugitive Procures Arms.

Mayden was alarmed and notified the authorities. About 6 o'clock, after procuring a repeating shotgun and revolver from the Tanner home, Geer went to Jesse Hubbard's house, where Mayden boarded, and called for him, but before any developments the Deputy Sheriff and a posse came upon him and he fled into an orchard close by.

At about seventy yards the Sheriff fired several shots at him. Geer dropped to his knees and took deliberate aim and fired two volleys, the shots wounding Cogswell, Tanner, McCullom and Dr. Steely.

Their wounds are not serious and it is not known whether Geer was wounded. In the darkness he escaped and was not heard or seen until about 9 o'clock, when he called at Mrs. Ella Brown's home in the south part of town and ordered her to prepare supper for him. While he was waiting she sent word to the Sheriff, but before the posse arrived Geer became suspicious and left and has not been seen since.

Before leaving he told Mrs. Brown he intended to stay here until he had accomplished his plans of killing Arthur Mayden and Florence Scott, and he would do it if he had to kill 100 men who might interfere.

Battle Is Expected.

Posses are looking in all directions today and are well armed and word is received that they are closing in on him south of town. A battle is expected as Geer is well armed and fearless.

He was sentenced to the penitentiary at Chester 18 months ago on a charge of stabbing a man in a fight for a term from one to 20 years.

MAN ON FIRE SLIDES 250 FEET TO EARTH

Lights Cigarette at Top of Stack and Throws Match in Bucket of Oil.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—Two hundred and fifty feet above the ground, suspended by a rope that was burning and his clothes blazing from naptha and carbon oil, Chris Sinkas, a stack painter, 26 years old, slid to earth, while a crowd of men stood horrified at the Westinghouse Electric plant in East Pittsburg. He held a rope in his left hand to regulate the speed of his descent, at the same time using his right hand in an effort to beat out the flames.

When Sinkas reached the ground his clothing was almost entirely burned from his body, he was terribly burned about the right hand and arm, chest and face, and his left hand was torn by the rope as he made the swift descent.

Sinkas was painting a smokestack built recently to a new addition to the power house. Before starting to work he lighted a cigarette and tossed the lighted match into a bucket of oil.

WATERWAYS BILL LOSES IN ILLINOIS

Measure Passed by the Senate Is Neglected by House Members.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 30.—Deep-waterway legislation for the present year went down to defeat when the House adjourned without taking action upon the bill that passed the Senate Wednesday morning.

It is now impossible to pass the bill today, the last day of grace for measures to become effective July 1, of this year.

Representative Edward Smejkal's failure to report back the bill from the House Committee on Canals, Rivers and Harbors, sealed the fate of the waterways measure.

ANNIVERSARY MASS BY CARDINAL GIBBONS

Morning Thanksgiving Celebration in Presence of Household Alone.

By Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 30.—In a little chapel in a home where he is at present visiting and about fifty miles from Baltimore, Cardinal Gibbons this morning offered up a mass of thanksgiving in honor of the most momentous event of his long career. Today he completes 50 years of a successful priesthood and 25 years as cardinal and nominal head of the Catholic Church in the United States. It was on June 30, 1861, that Father Gibbons, after finishing his education for the priesthood at St. Mary's Seminary, was ordained at the Cathedral here by Archbishop Kenrick.

Just 25 years later, June 30, 1886, the red hat was conferred on him, also at the Cathedral. This morning the Cardinal arose at his usual hour, 6 o'clock, and with a single assistant celebrated a low mass, with only members of the household attending.

1 IN 500 LICENSED TO SELL FIREWORKS

New York Restrictions Prove Too Severe for Merchants Who Apply.

NEW YORK, June 30.—A permit has been refused to 499 of the 500 applicants for permits to sell fireworks in New York on July 4, Fire Commissioner Johnson announces, because their shops are not in fireproof buildings equipped with automatic sprinklers, or else are in structures occupied in part as tenements. The sole holder of a license had to make alterations involving thousands of dollars in his store.

Commissioner Johnson also announced that the department has confiscated two tons of fireworks, which had been smuggled into the city in violation of the fireworks ordinance. The confiscated property will be destroyed.

REGIME OF MERCY HELD WORKHOUSE TRUSTY AT POST

Prisoners Declare Kindness of Superintendent White Has Won Their Hearts.

MEN ARE ON HONOR

Head of Institution Tells of System Which Made Gibson Refuse to Escape.

The case of John Gibson, a workhouse trusty, who took a telephone message that he was wanted for a $10,000 diamond robbery in Steubenville, O., and did not seize the opportunity he had to escape, has brought to life a new regime at that institution, where kindness and the honor system have replaced sterner methods.

Gibson's gratitude to Calvin J. White, superintendent of the workhouse, led to his unusual conduct.

"I knew if I escaped it might cost him his job," Gibson told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday. "He has been so kind to me that I couldn't treat him that way. All the men here like him. I've often had chances to get away, but I wouldn't take them on Supt. White's account."

Puts Men On Honor.

Superintendent White said he had found that treating the men pleasantly and putting those on their honor who showed a disposition toward good behavior was the best method possible.

"White's case illustrates how effective such a method may become," he said in discussing it. "He came here with the record of being a convicted robber, but he is intelligent and eager to please and I made him a trusty.

"He was in the office with Henry Struecker, a clerk, when Detective Joyce telephoned that the Steubenville police wanted Gibson held at the expiration of his term here, to answer for the diamond robbery in Ohio.

"When Gibson, who answered the telephone realized what the message meant he called Streucker, to take it also, and asked Joyce to repeat it.

Could Have Escaped.

"He could have hung up the telephone receiver and escaped. His case ought to give students of criminology and social economy food for reflection. Stamped by the police as a crook, this man showed remarkable fidelity to trust. He decided to face a probable penitentiary sentence rather than betray my confidence.

"I have written to the Chief of Police in Steubenville telling him what a manly fellow he has to deal with, and I will give Gibson a letter of recommendation when he leaves the workhouse."

Gibson worked the remainder of the day, when the message was received, as a trustee about the office. Then he was sent to the quarry, where the prisoners are under guard. A Post-Dispatch reporter found him there Friday. Near him was Gus Sansone, who escaped from the workhouse, March 27, before White took charge, and was caught in Chicago and brought back to serve out his term for petit larceny.

Prisoners Praise White.

Sansone gave eager affirmation of Gibson's declaration that the men like White and admire him.

Other prisoners joined in these testimonials of gratitude and one of them, who had been a cellmate of Henry Wickman's, told of White's kindness to him. Wickman had a cough and White, after ministering to him personally, got him a parole in order that the trouble might be treated at the city hospital. Wickman is there now. He was convicted for malicious destruction of property.

The men showed their attitude toward White as he walked through the quarry. One after another greeted him with a smile and a cheerful "Good morning, Mr. White," as he approached. One stopped him to show him a sore on his hand.

In the office of the workhouse hangs a placard on which is written "The Prayer of the Buddhist," embodying the essence of the new system there. The prayer is:

I pray thee to have mercy on the vicious. Thou hast already had pity on the virtuous by making them so.

Mrs. White, although she does not hold the position of matron at the workhouse, visits the women there daily and almost invariably gives women one or more garments when they are released. She sings Sunday afternoons to the men.

Other stores have a slogan; the Globe has the goods. See page 6 today.

BANK SWINDLER ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Saws Bars at Iola, Kan., After Being Caught in 3-Mile Chase by Posse.

IOLA, Kan., June 30.—Frank Marislas, an alleged notorious bank swindler, escaped from the County jail here last night by sawing off an iron bar in a window. When the prisoners were locked in their cells last night, Marislas hid and eluded the jailer. Five other prisoners declare they heard no disturbance and did not know a prisoner had escaped until this morning.

Marislas was under arrest here for attempting to defraud the Moran State Bank. He was captured after a three-mile chase by a posse of farmers led by Cashier Harlan Taylor.

MISSING CASHIER IS LEGALLY DEAD

Insurance Company Instructed by Court to Pay $1900 to His Widow.

Philip S. Adams, missing cashier of a Fulton bank, which failed in January, 1902, is legally dead, and the New York Life Insurance Co. must pay $1900 to his legally declared widow.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals so declared Friday, sustaining the judgment of the Audrain County Circuit Court in favor of Mrs. Adams in her suit against the company.

Adams disappeared Jan. 13, 1902, and the bank failed a few days later. There was definite testimony that he was seen in Texas in that year, and in Honolulu, on his way to Japan, in the same year. A witness thought he saw him in Lake Charles, La., in 1905, and another thought he saw him through the window of a Memphis boarding house in 1904.

The wife's suit for insurance was taken to Mexico, Mo., on a change of venue from Fulton. The Appellate Court's opinion, written by Judge Norton, stated that, since seven years had elapsed since he had been seen and positively recognized, Adams was legally dead.

A Drop of Blood

Or a little water from the human system when thoroughly tested by the chief chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., tells the story of impoverished blood—nervous exhaustion or some kidney trouble. Such examinations are made without cost and is only a small part of the work of the staff of physicians and surgeons under the direction of Dr. R. V. Pierce giving the best medical advice possible without cost to those who wish to write and make a full statement of symptoms. An imitation of natures method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alterative and glycerin extract of roots, without the use of alcohol, such as

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Which makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment. Get what you ask for!

CASH AWARD TO ST. LOUIS FIRM BY COMMERCE BOARD

Three Railroads Ordered to Pay $7,374.25 as Reparation for Unreasonable Rates.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

St. Louis Blast Furnace Company Not Allowed the Reduction Given to Chicago.

The Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington has just given a decision ordering the Virginia Railway Co., Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. and the Iron Mountain Railroad Co. to pay to the St. Louis Blast Furnace Co. $7374.25 as reparation for unreasonable rates charged for transportaion of coke from Deep Water, W. Va., to Carondelet.

The Steel Trust's control of coke ovens in West Virginia and of the blast furnaces at Gary, Ind., South Chicago and other lake points was involved. It appeared, as recently found by Secretary of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith, that those points had been favored in transportation by having a special low rate on coke for blast furnace use. The rate from the West Virginia coke ovens to Chicago "for other uses" was $2.65 per ton, but for "blast furnace use," $2.35 per ton.

The St. Louis Blast Furnace Co., at Carondelet, had shipped to it from the ovens in West Virginia hundreds of cars of coke, which on arrival it used in its blast furnaces for the manufacture of pig iron. No reduction in rates was allowed to it on the coke that it put to a blast furnace use.

Its complaint was heard in St. Louis and later argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, Harold R. Small of St. Louis appearing in its behalf. It developed that St. Louis was suffering from the discrimination in rates given to Gary, Ind., Chicago and other lake points by the device of allowing those points the late rate on coke for blast furnace use when a similar proportionately low rate was at the same time denied to St. Louis.

The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission just handed down is regarded as a victory for St. Louis. The decision, it is understood, will result in a more favorable rate for this city.

THE engagement of Miss Gertrude English and Irving Rosenbaum of New York has been announced. Miss English is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Landau of 4051 Delmar boulevard. Miss English has for the past year made her home in New York with her aunt, Mrs. A. B. Selinger. The wedding will take place in the early autumn.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Leo's Church, Wednesday morning, when Gertrude McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McDaniel, 1630 Helen street, became the wife of Michael J. Gleason, 1421 North Jefferson avenue. They were married by the Rev. Father Jas. T. Coffey at nuptial high mass. Miss Margaret Dalton attended Miss McDaniel as maid of honor, and Miss May Ryan was bridemaid. Gerald Gleason was best man for the bridegroom, and William Kielty acted as groomsman. The Misses Cecelia McMahon and Dorothy Fitzpatrick were flower girls, and William Foley and Percy George, ushers.

The wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, and was followed by an informal reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Gleason departed on an afternoon train for New York, where they will sail for visit to the bridegroom's old home in Tipperary, Ireland.

Miss Lucille Music, 4958 Page boulevard, departed with Miss Ellen Parle to spend July and August at Asbury Park, N. J.

Miss Fannie Elizabeth Large of 6236 Waterman avenue has departed for a visit to Excelsior Springs and Kansas City.

Hubert T. Bauersachs and William F. Hugo will depart July 1 for the West. They expect to return the latter part of the month.

The Liederkranz Club will celebrate July Fourth with a patriotic celebration of fireworks, music and illumination.

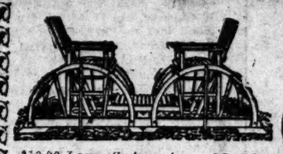

Hugh E. Jones, noble grand of No. 5 Lodge of the St. Louis Odd Fellows, and Miss Alice Ross were married Thursday night at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Ross, 2532 Geraldine avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. A. Webster, pastor of the Strodtman Heights Christain Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams departed Wednesday for their summer home in Hessel, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Nugent and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kennard, will spend July and August at Lake Placid, Adirondack Mountains.
